COTTON POINTS TO UTI...

President of Normal Schoo Discusses the Practical Side of Education Preparatory to Life Work

PROF. L. P. BENEZET.

Prof. Louis P. Benezet, principal of the La Crosse high school, was elected president of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association at the final session of the meeting held in the new normal school this morning.

There were but few dissenting votes.

Vice president—Miss Ella Wilson, Viroqua.

Secretary-treasurer—Prof. I. B. Davies, Sparta.

Directors—M. M. Haney, Monroe county, and B. F. Oltman, West Salem.

In a stirring address before the five hundred members of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association assembled in convention here this morning, State Senator Thomas Morris, who is also president of the board of normal school regents, advised Wisconsin educators to "get busy" if they would secure legislation for the betterment of our public school systems.

SENATOR "TOM" MORRIS

He reviewed the fight in both houses of the state legislature over the bill providing for an annual income for the university of Wisconsin and explained to the teachers the necessity of totally eradicating school propositions from politics.

Under the old budget system, he pointed out, the university was constantly in debt and that when the proposition of bestowing an annual

MEMORIAL

OF THE

Young Men's Christian Association of La Crosse

ON THE DEATH OF

W. W. CARGILL

In the death of WILLIAM W. CARGILL, THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION OF LA CROSSE has met a special loss. His broad sympathies and kindly nature led him to feel a lively interest in the young men of the city. This interest found expression in his activities in connection with this association. He believed the work of the association to be one of the very best ways of cultivating clean and rugged manhood, and though his great business affairs were exacting, he found time for many years to act as a trustee, giving his mature advice and generous encouragement.

He gave largely of his means to the work. Most notable of his gifts was one of twenty-five thousand dollars to the building fund. This made the new building a possibility, and it stands as a monument to his generosity.

He has gone from us but his deeds will ever live and inspire us to make the most of the association which he believed in and loved, and to which he so generously gave.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family, whose loss is so much greater than ours.

IT IS ORDERED by the board of directors that the above memorial be spread upon the minutes of the association; that an engrossed copy be sent to the family, and copies be furnished to the press.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION OF LA CROSSE.

By F. H. Scofield, President.
A. C. Gran, Secretary.

PHILLIP SMITH RELIEVED AT LAST

Death Comes to Unfortunate Cancer Victim whose Suffering Has Been Great for Years

Phillip Smith is dead.

After suffering for three years untold agonies from a malignant cancer which was slowly consuming his intestines, and enduring with fortitude not only the excruciating pain caused by disease, but also the pangs of poverty, death relieved his suffering at 2 o'clock this morning.

With three small children and his invalid wife, Mr. Smith has been dependent upon the generosity of La Crosse citizens for several years. His widow is now suffering from a tumor, upon which operation was deferred on account of the precarious condition of her husband.

Once Was Prosperous.

Little over three years ago, Smith was a commercial salesman in good circumstances. His young wife was happy and his babes were the prettiest in the community. Then he was taken ill. A cancer developed which at the end of a year had eaten up his entire savings in doctors bills. Operation failed to remove it.

His wife was soon after taken ill with a tumor, and since that time the history of the family has been one of suffering until almost two months ago the generous citizens of La Crosse stepped in and raised a purse o $200 to give the amily relief. Through this aid the last few days of Smith's life were made less painful, and his mind was relieved as to the immediate needs of his family.

Funeral Tomorrow.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 520 Vine street tomorrow morning, and at noon the remains will be shipped to Sparta, where interment will be made. Smith's father will contribute toward the funeral expense.

RAPPINGS TOLD OF PERISHING BROTHER

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Because she heard mysterious rappings on the floor of her bedroom, Miss Bertha Dougherty, a Chicago school teacher, believes that her brother, Jay Dougherty, his wife and three children, have perished of thirst in the Mojave desert in California.

The last heard from Dougherty and his family was they had started from Santee, Cal., across the desert to the Yuma Indian reservation.

FIND SIGNAL CODE OF WHITE SLAVERS

Chicago Detectives Dig Up Evidence of Organized Gang Engaged in Corrupting Girls

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Detectives employed by Attorney Clifford G. Roe in the White Slave Crusade here have obtained a copy of an elaborate code used by a band of Chicago procurers in communicating with companions in transit and in other cities.

From the nature of its text, the code system was used chiefly in warning panderers traveling with young girls, of possible police interference and danger of arrest. It also contains phrases relating to remuneration for delivery of girls and other explanatory of particular types of girls desired by resort owners.

The code proves conclusively, according to Roe, that white slavery is a vast well systematized business in which hundreds of men in Chicago as well as other large cities are actively engaged every day in the year.

Here are several phrases and their keys contained in the code book:

"Did you get my message?" means "Leave train at Englewood nd tke street car or taxicab down town."

"Is Mortgage paid?" means "Stach (underworld term meaning to place in temporary hiding or seclusion) the girl and come into town alone."

"Wnt immedite settleament," means "Be careful, have hunch that police are on the job."

"Board of Trade contract is paid," means "Drop the girl and get to cover. Wire place of hiding and will forward money."

TO PROSECUTE WIFE OF MAN SHE LOVES

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Maud Riley today declared she is preparing to prosecute Mrs. Nanette Lillard on a charge of false imprisonment following the confession of Mrs. Lillard that she had bought and poisoned the candy which she alleged had been sent her by Mrs. Ridley. Mrs. Ridley admits she is in love with Mrs. Lillard's husband.

TO FREE DE LARA

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 23.—Friends of de Lara, the organizer for the socialist party, who is confined in the local jail charged with being an anarchist, are endeavoring to secure the bond of $2,00 which is demanded before he will be released. It is likely that this will be arranged today.

At Syracuse—First half: Syracuse, 28; Niagara University, 0.

MADISON, Oct. 23.—Wisconsin went into today's game with Indiana rejoicing in the return of "Keckie" Moll, though all week a substitute, Anderson, has been working for the position in case anything blocked Moll's return to the game. Wisconsin went into the contest certain of victory, though a week ago with Moll missing there was great fear felt over the outcome.

The lineup:

Wisconsin	Position	Indiana
Dean	right end	Roberts
Busser	right tackle	Dutter
Jakisch	right guard	Leonard
Arpin	center	Hoover
Mackmiller	left guard	Schulte
Boyle	left tackle	Hatfield or Kimball
Bunker	left end	Berndt
Moll	quarterback	Paddock
Fucik	right half back	Gill
Wilce	full back	Cartwright
Wilce (Capt.)	full back	Cartwright or Winters

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23.—Michigan, with a crippled team, lacking Freeney, Patingill and Edmunds, played the Marquette University football team on Marquette Field this afternoon before a crowd of 10,000 persons. The Marquette men were all in perfect condition, not a man being in the hospital squad. The game started with odds ranging from two to one on Michigan to even, but the most popular bets were even money that Michigan scores ten points.

Captain Allerdice won the toss and chose the south goal. The teams line up for the kickoff at exactly 2:30.

COOK ACCEPTS OFFER.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Oct. 23. — Chancellor Strong of the University of Kansas today received a telegram from Dr. Frederick A. Cook accepting Prof. Dyche's offer to endeavor to reach the top of Mount McKinley, and bring back the records which Dr. Cook says says he left there.

MISSOURI SHAKES WITH EARTHQUAKE

CAPE JIRARDEAU, Mo., Oct. 23.—A heavy earthquake shock lasting fully a minute, was felt here at 1:15 o'clock this morning. Buildings rocked and the earth seemed to undulate. Deep rumblings accompanied the shock which seemed to move from east to west. The shock was the heaviest felt in many years. No damage is reported.

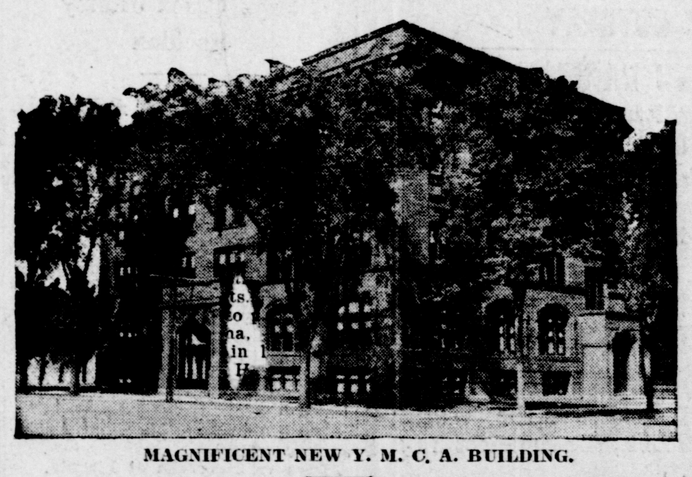

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 23.—Today's earthquake shock was felt in this city at 1:05 this morning, lasting for several seconds, and being of cufficient force to arouse nearly everybody in the city. No damage of any kind, however, was done and there was no repetition of the first trembling.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 23.—A severe earthquake shock lasting several seconds followed by several lighter tremors was felt at Hickman, Ky., at 1:30 this morning. No damage was done.

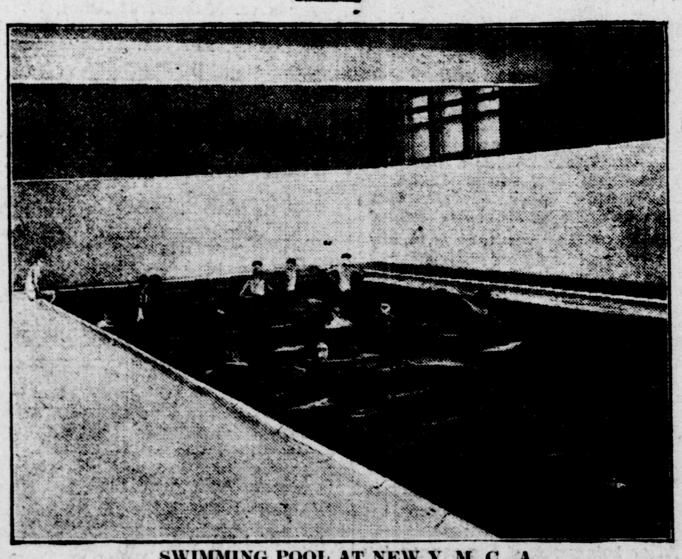

CAN BOARD RULE PHONE BOOK "ADS"

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special)—Whether or not it has jurisdiction to regulate advertisements in telephone directories was the interesting question presented to the railroad commission this afternoon by T. L. Doyle, appearing for the Fond du Lac Businessmen's Association. The Wisconsin Telephone company inserted in its Fond du Lac directory the advertisement of a number of Milwaukee merchants and the Fond du Lac merchants are up in arms on the subject.

WILL THROW SPLENDID "Y" OPEN TO THE PUBLIC SOON

MAGNIFICENT NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

SWIMMING POOL AT NEW Y. M. C. A.

Active preparations for the opening of the new Y. M. C. A. building to the public of La Crosse was begun last evening when Secretary A. C. Gran instructed about twenty-five boys and young men who will act in the capacity of guides during the opening week.

So that the building and all its fine points will be thoroughly explained to the public, Mr. Gran explained to the young men the features of the building. They started at the top floors and went to the basement each floor being explained as the young men went down. The two top floors are the dormitories and consists of 38 well equipped rooms, specimens of which will be on exhibition next week.

The boys were divided into separate divisions of about ten or fifteen and taken through one division at a time. Each boy will have a little booklet with him from which he will be able to exxplain to the visiting public the entire building and its accommodations. The building will be thrown open to the people of the city next Monday, visitors being welcome each afternoon and evening.

The schedule of classes and the uses of the various rooms and privileges will be thoroughly explained to every visitor. The gymnasium will no doubt be the center of attraction to all visiting the building and it is certainly the finest and best equipped Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in the state with the possible exception of those at Milwaukee and Madison.

Everything will be thrown open to the public next week and they will be given an opportunity to see what has been erected with the money which they so generously donated a few years ago.

PALMER'S THIEF NOW A CAPTIVE

Man who Stole Horse and Rig Here Caught at Joliet and Draws Ten Year Prison Term

Tim O'Brien, the horsethief with many aliases, who stole a horse from the Palmer livery in this city several weeks ago and made good his escape, is thought to be under arrest and conviction of the theft of a horse at Joliet, Ill.

A message was received from the authorities at Joliet this morning by the police department that a man by the name of Tim O'Brien, arrested there for the theft of a horse had been sentenced to the Joliet penetentiary for a term of ten years. The man closely answers the description of the local thief, and as the names are identical he is thought to be the man wanted here.

Messrs. Palmer and Elbertson have wired to the Joliet authorities to use every effort to obtain from O'Brien information as to what disposition he made of the stolen outfit. They will take steps to recover their property.

DISINHERITS SON WHO DON'T BELIEVE

CARROLL, Miss., Oct. 21.— Because his son refused to believe the bible was an inspired work, David Baker, wealthy, just before his death tore up a will giving $20,000 to his son, and substituted another giving him only $5. The father called his son to him shortly before his death and asked if he he still clung to the belief that the bible was a secular work. When the son told him he did, the father asked that the will be brought to him and destroyed it.

ILLNESS OF THREE DAYS PROVES FATAL

Lester Holmes, Express Messenger, Passes Away at His Home, 503 South Fifth Street, Friday

After an illness of about three days with anterior ploYo-meileitis or infantile paralysis, Lester Holmes, aged 24 years, died at 9:30 o'clock last evening at his home, 508 South Fifth street.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ada Holmes, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Holmes, and four cousins in this city.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence, Rev. J. E. Ayecue of the First Baptist church officiating. The remains will be taken to St. Ansgar, Iowa, for interment.

Deceased was an express messenger for the Wells-Fargo Express company on the Southern Minnesota. Three days ago he was taken sick but was not confined to his bed until last evening. Death came a few hours after.

He was a prominent member of the Y. M. C. A., having a host of friends, who will be shocked to learn of his sudden death.

AUTOS IN DANGEROUS RACE

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 23.—Seventeen automobiles got away here at 10 o'clock this morning in the greatest road race ever attempted on the Pacific coast.

The race comprises three events, one for 150 miles, another for 215 miles and the third for 258 miles. The machines making the best showing in the first two will be allowed to continue in the third.

The course, which is 21 miles in length, runs through the foothills, over country roads and boulevards and has a number of dangerous curves.

A BADGER WOMAN IS ASPHASIA VICTIM

Woman of Culture Loses Memory in New Jersey Depot and Goes to Hospital

PROBABLY A MILWAUKEEAN

Luggage was Checked from Milwaukee Under Name of Mrs. Charles A. Nathan

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Oct. 23.—A woman of evident refinement, well dressed and wearing much expensive jewelry is at the North Hudson Hospital unable to give any information as to her identity.

She was attacked with aphasia late last night in the West Shore Railroad station. In her purse was found a trunk check marked Mrs. Cyras C. Nathan, and a business card of M. A. Grasse, Depot Passenger Agent of the Wabash Railroad, Chicago. On one side is written:

"This will introduce Mrs. Curry, who is enroute to New York. Taravoida, Agent."

On the other side is written: "Mr. Grasse, please put lady in chair car No. 6 and oblige. W. H."

The baggage check called for a small trunk which is marked Milwaukee to New York and bears the name of Mrs. Chas. A. Nathan.

The woman was taken ill on the train and was assisted by women fellow passengers. When this city was reached she declared she was all right and declined further aid, saying she would soon reach her destination. Soon afterward she was noticed to pace up and down the waiting room for a time and then with a cry she fell on the floor. She was hurried to the hospital where he casa was diagnosed as aphasia.

Efforts to revive her and restore her memory have proved futile. The woman is of slight build and about 30 years of age.

The woman told the doctor this afternoon that she has a husband and a 10 year old daughter in Milwaukee, but when pressed for names she insisted she could not remember, as she claimed that her mother lived at 391 1-2 Ninth avenue, New York, but investigation showed that this was a vacant lot. She also claimed that her brother-in-law is William Schroeder, a cigar manufacturer of New York, but no such name was found in the directory.

M'CARREN DEAD; POLITICIANS MOURN

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. — New York's municipal politicians paused in their hot swirls of accusation and recrimination in the municipal campaign today, and from the mahogany furnished offices of the "big fellows" to the ward heelers lining up the "floaters" in the tenement alleys of the slums, a hush of mourning prevails. For lanky, angular, grim, good-natured, long Pat McCarren is dead, and the men who fought with or against him in the political arena of the metropolis all liked him personally because he was a "witty, kindly Irishman." They moved the dead politician's body today from St. Catherine's hospital, where he died at 1:05 o'clock this morning, to his late home in the Williamsburg district of Brooklyn. Preparations for the funeral are already under way. He succumbed to an operation for appendicitis.

It is believed that in his will, made in the hospital last Friday, he left a comfortable portion of his estate to charity.

HE ROBBED WASHER WOMAN OF $7,561

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 23. — Confessing that he had taken $7,561 belonging to Miss Lizzie Wind, a washerwoman who laundered his clothing free because his wife is dead, Wm. Eschle, an aged widower, today restored the money and the woman promised not to prosecute him.

WHY?

Why do you put off any longer entering the W. B. U., when you know it is what you ought to do? You have seen these photos of young men and women by the hundred who are now employed, happy and successful. Their salaries are being increased; they are getting AHEAD. Are you?

Why cannot we fill three positions this morning; one with the La Crosse Gas & Electric company, and two with the biggest milling company in the world? Because every W. B. U. graduate is EMPLOYED. Not only every graduate but more than ONE HUNDRED UNDERGRADUATES.

We assist every worthy student, graduate or not.

Why did the Michel Brewing company add two new W. B. U. graduates to its office force, John Rau and Joseph Jirza? Ask them. Ask any business man why he prefers W. B. U. graduates in his office.

Don't dilly dally. Determine to do something.

CATCHES RATTLER IN GOPHER TRAP

Adolps Lauterbach, a town of Campbell farmer, set a big gopher trap over a hole on his farm in an effort to catch some of the animals which have been living all season on his grain. His sensations when he went to look over his traps and found a big rattlesnake caught in it can be imagined. The repitile had eleven rattles and was one of the biggest ever seen in that vicinity. Mr. Lauterbach had some difficulty in killing it, as the snake was furious and struck in every direction with lightning rapidity. He presented the rattler for bounty.

Louis Schroeder, another drunken vagrant, plead guilty to the same charge and drew a term of thirty days.

PRINCETON TO BEAT LAFAYETTE TODAY

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—Princeton expects to put practically the same lineup against Lafayette this afternoon that she will use in the Yale game. With the possible exception of MacFayden, who is now slated to start the game, the eleven will begin hostilities for Princeton are believed to be the strongest combination that can be figured out of the Tiger camp. The team averages 192 pounds in weight.

The eyes of the followers of football in the west are on Wisconsin today, wondering how the team will show up in its first big game of the season. As the other big eight teams have no worthy opponents today, it will be seen that interest centers on the Badger contest with the Hoosiers at Camp Randall.

With a determination not to allow the well remembered Illinois game of two years ago to be duplicated the varsity team faces one of the hardest games of its schedule tomorrow on Camp Randall. The Hoosier team under the direction of its coach, Jimmie Sheldon, arrived this afternoon, hopeful of wiping out the defeat by Chicago two weeks ago by defeating the Badgers.

That Chicago was able to defeat the Hoosiers by a score of 21 to 0 is taken as no indication that the Indiana team is weak for it is generally realized that game was won largely on flukes.

A short signal practice was given the team yesterday afternoon in preparation for the game. Moll played in the quarterback position and will evidently start the game, although Fuelk may start at quarter to give Anderson a tryout at halfback Iakisch will probably play right guard, although Neprud may take his place later.

The feeling among the rooters this afternoon was that Wisconsin would win, but by a small score.

The Hoosier lineup will probably be:

The weights of the players in today's game are:

Wisconsin will play her hardest game of the season thus far when she meets "Jimmy" Sheldon's Indiana university eleven at Madison, which contest is expected to furnish the first test of Wisconsin's strength this season.

Simultaneously Michigan will meet Marquette university at Milwaukee. These will be the only two "big" games in the west this afternoon, though Iowa will meet Nebraska at Lincoln and Notre Dame will clash with the Michigan Aggies at South Bend. Chicago and Minnesota generally believed to be the two strongest of the western elevens, will take a day off.

Despite the return of "Keckie" Moll, Wisconsin's star quarterback, to the squad, the Badgers are generally thought to be weaker than they were at this stage of the season last year. Several are laid up by sickness or injuries.

Michigan faces a strong opponent in Marquette. The Milwaukee eleven meets the Wolverines for the first time but thy have been planning for this game for weeks while Michigan will probably have to go into the game with a long hospital list.

Before accepting a favor from any one, the cynic finds out what he expects in return.

WAIS MAY GUARD OUTCASTS' PLATE

Athletes Catcher will be Given Chance; Is Signed Up by President Rooney

That "Billy" Wais, the catcher for the Athletes, the city champions, during the past season, will probably be the guardian of the home plate for the Outcasts next season, was made known when President Rooney announced that the signature of the local boy had been affixed to a contract.

Wais played nine games with the local team during the past season, taking the place of Roy Klein, the regular catcher, when he was injured. He made an instantaneous "hit" with the fans and it is safe to say that he will be a popular member of the team. His catching was of the very best kind and with the exception of a very little nervousness, he played like a veteran. His hitting was good, getting a number of timely singles and two baggers. He is also a speedy and heady base runner. With good coaching under an exxperienced manager, Wais ought to make one of the best catchers that has been seen in this city. His size is the only factor that counts against him. If he cannot be used at the backstop position, there is a probability that he will be tried out at some position in the infield. Being a speedy man on his feet, able to think rapidly and with a good throw, there is no reason why he could not be developed into an excellent infieldr.

NORMAL HAS NO FOOT BALL TEAM

Mueller, a local man, will coach the normal basketball team.

Football will not be played this year, due to the fact that the men could not get an early training start; also for lack of material.

It was thought advisable by both the coach and students to play basketball. The outlook for basketball is promising. Twenty men have reported and Coach Mueller is putting them through a light practice.

A number of the candidates have played the game before coming to normal school, so it will not be a team of inexperienced players. The early training start will be an advantage as the men will be in fit condition to play when other schools will be just getting their candidates in condition

The normal team expects to meet the strong teams of the city and every opportunity will be put forward to develop a strong team, and to build up a squad of first class players to stand these gruelling games is the problem before Coach Mueller and his assistants.

Mr. Mueller, when consulted in regard to the team, said that he was highly pleased with the showing of the men and that the normal will, without a doubt, have a strong team.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. O. T. Erhart.

BATTERED HIGHS ARE OFF TO WINONA

With a crippled and battered up team the La Crosse high school football squad this morning left on the Fast Mail for Winona, where they are playing the aggregation of that city this afternoon. With the lineup which Coach Doseff was forced to put into the game La Crosse could never hope to gather in the laurels, but, nevertheless, Winona will have to fight hard for the honors. The team will line up as follows this afternoon: Center, Weimar; r. g., Jacobson; r. t., Chamberlain; r. e., Ray; l. g., Davis; l. t., Schlabach; l. e., Stavrum; quarter, Shaw; r. h., Stevenson; full back, Shirley; left half, Strum; substitutes, Walker, Keeler, Tiedemann, Hundredmark

BROWN WORRIES HARVARD.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 23. — With Guard West, Tackle Mcay and Halfback Corbett out of the game, Harvard views with no little apprehension the outcome of this afternoon's game with Brown. The loss of West and McKay have weakened the crimson line materially and has shown the coaches what a dearth of line material there is on hand for the Yale game.

THE MERCHANT'S CHANCE

On the eve of what it is hoped will prove an industrial revival in La Crosse, The Tribune believes it is justified in a little straight talk with merchants upon their relative obligation, as a class, to lend aid in promoting the program for a more populous and active La Crosse. As a basic assertion, we submit the following:

The merchant, more than any other, should devote to the fullest extent his energies, influence and capital to the purpose of increasing the number and size of our factories.

In justification of this assertion we make the further declaration that THE MERCHANT BENEFITS BY ADDITION OF NEW FACTORIES AND EXPANSION OF OLD FACTORIES IMMENSELY MORE THAN DOES ANY OTHER CITIZEN OR CLASS OF CITIZENS.

This apparently broad statement is capable of conclusive demonstration. It will not be challenged that the overwhelmingly greatest expense in manufacture is wages paid to workmen. And the merchants get ALMOST EVERY DOLLAR PAID IN WAGES IN THEIR COMMUNITY.

The cost of living is so great that few laborers save anything. Their money for the most part goes to the purchase of the necessities of life—clothing, groceries, meats, household furnishings, hardware. THE MERCHANTS GET ALL THIS MONEY.

Let us suppose a case: Suppose a factory employing ONE HUNDRED men were to be located here, what would it be worth to La Crosse merchants? What, based on its value to them, could they well afford to contribute to getting it?

Assume that the one hundred men received an average of $700 per year. That means a total of $70,000 per year paid in wages and largely spent with the merchants, in addition to what has been spent with merchants heretofore. Assume that $200 of the $700 is spent for other things, and that the merchants get $50,000 of it. And suppose that fifty merchants participate.

That would mean that each of these fifty merchants adds $1,000 a year to his gross sales, and figuring 30 per cent profit, it would mean a net profit to each of them of $300 the first year from the coming of this one factory.

Looks fine, doesn't it! But here is something that will not look so fine. Suppose every one of these fifty merchants were asked to donate $300 to the purpose of getting the factory to come to La Crosse? Wough! Pandemonium and riot!

It just naturally would make a merchant "go up in the air" to ask him, and each of his associates, to give $300 to get a single factory employing one hundred men to come here. But, on second thought, would it be so unreasonable?

Listen! The merchant would have to pay the $300 but once, the first year only AND THAT FACTORY WOULD CONTINUE TO PAY INTO HIS CASH REGISTER A NET PROFIT OF $300 EACH YEAR, PERHAPS FOR HIS WHOLE LIFETIME. Moreover, it probably would grow, and when it got to be twice as big it would pay him net $600 a year; and when it became five times as large it would pay him net $1,500 a year.

Now supposing that during the course of ten years the merchants of this city added enough factories to employ a total of 5,000 more men than are employed here now. It would mean a net profit to each one of them of $15,000 a year. Isn't that worth thinking about?

But of course it would not mean a net profit of $15,000 to each of the fifty merchants who made a start toward getting factories. New stores would come, and some of the merchants would succeed in getting more of the trade than others. However, this always irregular division of accretions to business does not affect the force of the argument. The great unanswerable fact remains that THE MERCHANT PROFITS MORE BY NEW FACTORIES THAN ANY OTHER CLASS. THEREFORE EVERY MERCHANT, AS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION, IS FACED BY A REAL ECONOMIC NECESSITY OF GIVING TIME, EFFORT AND MONEY TO THE CAUSE OF GETTING MORE FACTORIES.

We have used above arbitrary figures to illustrate the advisability of merchants contributing to a campaign to secure factories for La Crosse. This was necessary for argument's sake. To say just what each individual merchant should pay is impossible, and we are ready to leave that to the individuals. If this discussion shall impress upon the merchants of this city their personal obligation, to themselves, in the matter of taking off their coats and opening their wallets for a greater La Crosse, its publishers will be content. We hope that every merchant in this city may sit down and give this a careful reading, and that he may go from contemplation of its suggestions to a deeper study of his own obligations and opportunities. This is no treatise on civic pride or municipal patriotism. It is a plain business talk based upon sound business principles and sustained by a logic that cannot be assailed. It is no argument for indiscriminate and incautious expenditure dealing with inferior concerns, the presumption being that the substantiality and earning capacity of a factory would be established before its coming would be encouraged. Nor should money spent by merchants be entirely gratuitous, a return in stock which has a market value being in most cases advisable. The main thing is TO DO SOMETHING AND DO IT NOW.

Wonders of Nature

There is something marvelous in the fact that a tree will tower for decades unscathed of storm and get struck by lightning the first time anyone seeks shelter under it from the rain.—Philadelphia Ledger.

If we ever commit suicide, we shall carefully avoid carbolic acid, a dose of which hurts worse than pulling a tooth.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Drizzle.

Ye gods and ye fishes, I wish it would rain!
This fizzle or drizzle just gives me a pain!
The choked-up, grayed sky, like a sickly-stewed stuffing
Both wearies and frets, with its tiresome bluffing!
That's why, Gentle Reader, I pipe this refrain:
"If you're going to wet us, come on, Sky, and Rain!"

I hate to be threatened and menaced this way
With a drizzle that muddies an October day;
I don't like to puzzle myself with the riddle
Of a sky that says rain but does nothing but twiddle!
O Rain, come along if you're coming at all—
Gett back to the bench, Thunder Cloud, or play ball!

This sort of a day makes me think of some men
Who are going to do something great, now and then,
And start out to do it with drums and hurrahing,
But wind up at last with just drivel and jawing!
I golly, I'm free to insistently state
That I like to see folks either fish or cut bait!

And that's why I rave at this drizzle today,
That hangs from the skies in its ominous way
And bluffs at and worries the uncertain fellow,
Who doesn't know where he has left his umbrellow!
That's why, Gentle Reader, I pipe this refrain;
"If you're going to wet us, come on, Sky, and Rain!"

The Corpse's Excursion

"It may be economical, but it is certainly ridiculous," said Senator Tillman of a proposition he opposed. "It reminds me of Calhoun White.

"Calhoun White stuck his head in through the ticket window of Salter Depot railroad station and said:

"'Bosse, gimme two round trip tickets to Society Hill, one fur myself and one fur a corpse.'

"'I never heard of nobody buying excursion tickets for corpses,' said the agent. 'What's the meaning of this?'

"'Well, boss,' Calhoun White replied, 'my brother Webster died yesterday, and I want to take the corpse up to Society Hill and let the family view the remains, and then I'll bring him back to Salters Depot here and bury him. That'll be a big sight cheaper than for the whole family to traipse all the way from Society Hill and all the way back again.'"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Compared With Chinaware

Dick Woods, a physician of this city, has, it is said, more good stories "up his sleeve" than any other doctor in town, and the latest of these was told by the loctor a day or so ago at a club of which he is a member.

"Heard a good one this morning," he said. "A little girl and her mother were walking down the street, when they came to a place where straw had been spread over the pavement to deaden the noise, because of the illness of a woman living in that square.

"'Oh, look, mamma,' cried the little girl. 'What's all that hay doin' out in street?'

"'That's because Mrs. E— has a tiny baby, which God just sent her,' said her mother, gently, and after a moment's pause the little girl said slowly:

"'Gwacious, she must have been packed well.'"—Philadelphia Times.

Football Courtship

Autumn maiden—full of fun!
Football player—chapter one.
Maiden waves a flag of blue
From the grand stand—chapter two.
Football player turns to see;
Down he tumbles—chapter three.
Lost some scalp, and what is more,
Lost his heart. That's chapter four.
And he says as surgeons mend,
"I've won my goal." And that's the end.
Except there'll be a wedding soon
And then a happy honeymoon.

Explaining an excuse

An Atlanta merchant has frequent occasion to rebuke Ike, his darky parter, for his tardiness in reporting for duty in the morning. Ike is always ready with a more or less ingenious excuse.

"You're two hours late, Ike!" exclaimed the employer one morning. "This sort of thing must stop! Otherwise I'm going to fire you. Understand?"

"Deed, Mistah Edward," replied Ike, "it wa'nt mah fault, dis time! Honest! I was kicked by a mule!"

"Kicken by a mule? Well, even it that were so, it wouldn't delay you for more than an hour. You'll have to think of a better excuse than that."

Ike looked aggrieved. "Mistah Edward," he continued, solemny, "it might have been all right ef dat mhle kicked me in dis direction; but he didn't—he kicked me de odder way."—Atlanta Journal.

Hard on the Local Talent

The hoardings on the town hall were covered with advertisements of the forthcoming concert, which was to be given by what was described as the cream of local talent. Lower down on the hoarding was a smaller placard, which announced. "No dogs admitted!"

Evidently a wag must have passed that way after the shades of night had fallen, for next morning the notice referring to the exclusion of the canine species was found to be amended as follows: "By order of the S. P. C. A.

It was a nasty dig at the cream of local talent, and it is reported that one or two were quite upset about it.—Tit-Bits.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

OLD OIL WELLS REVIVED BY THE USE OF STEAM

Apply Steam to old Oil Wells

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—One of the most important industries of the nation is the production of oil. That producers must constantly sink new wells in order to keep up the production is considered a serious condition as the oil territory will, in the natural course of events become entirely covered, and should the existing wells continue to cease flowing after short activities the time will come when the production will cease altogether.

An invention for prolonging the life of oil wells is of vital importance not only to the oil producers but to the public, which uses vast quanties of this product—not to mention the Standard Oil company.

An invention of this nature has recently been provided by Dr. F. A. Monroe of Jamestown, N. Y. a man educated, not as an engineer, but as a physician, but one who has made evidently, a careful study of metallurgy and mechanics. The cause for the cessation of activities on the part of oil wells is the closing of the pores of the oil sands by paraffin or asphalt, especially the former. Paraffin is the great evil in the majority of the oil. The wax sticking to the rock, closing the crevices and interstices, and after a limited time preventing the passage of the oil. This has ever been the bane of the producers. Numerous have been the methods devised to overcome this enemy to the life of the oil well. This invention consists of an apparatus for generating steam which is sprayed over the walls of the shot cavity melting the paraffine.

The three found seats at a table, and Griswold dictated while the reporter wrote, Barbara meanwhile sitting with her cheek resting against her raised hand. She was experiencing the relief we all know, of finding a strong arm to lean upon in an emergency, and she realzed that Griswold was not only wise, but shrewd and resourceful.

"Please print this exactly as I give it: It having been intimated in certain quarters that the Appleweight gang of outlaws, whch has been terrorizing the North Carolina frontier for several years, enjoys immunity from prosecution in South Carolina owing to the fact that Governor Osborne was at some time attorney for Appleweight, Governor Osborne begs to say that steps have already been taken for the arrest of this man and his followers, dead or alive. The governor presents his compliments to those amiable critics who have so eagerly seized upon this pretext for slurring his private character and aspersing his official acts. The governor has no apologies to proffer the people of South Carolina, who have so generously reposed in him their trust and confidence. He is intent upon safe-guarding the peace, dignity and honor of the state through an honest enforcement of law and he has no other aim or ambition."

Griswold took the reporter's notebook and read over this pronunciamiento; then he handed it to Barbara, who studied it arefully.

"I think that sounds just right, only, why not substitute for 'honest' the word 'vigorous'?"

"Excellent," assented Griswold, and thus amended the statement was returned to the reporter.

"Now," said Griswold to the young man, "you are getting a pretty good item that no other paper will have. Please wire your story to Raleigh; Governor Osborne is very anxious that the people up there shall understand fully his attitude in the Appleweight matter."

"I reckon this will wake up old Dangerfield all right," said the reporter, grinning. "He'll be paralyzed. May I use your name in this connection, sir?"

"Not at all. My engagement with Governor Osborne is of the most confidential character and our purpose would be defeated by publicity. Remember, you get the exclusive use of this story—the return and immediate departure of the governor, his statement to the people in the Appleweight case—all with the understanding that you use what you have to the best advantage."

"Major Griswold has full authority to act, and you need question nothing he tells you," Barbara replied.

"I suppose the governor didn't see the attorney-general today?" asked the reporter detainingly, as Barbara rose. She exchanged a glance with Griswold.

"Father didn't see Mr. Bossworth at all, if that's what you mean!"

"Didn't see him? Well Bossworth didn't exactly tell me he had seen him today, but I asked him about the Appleweight case an hour ago at his house and he said the governor wasn't going to do anything and that was the end of it so far as the administration is concerned."

"Print his story and see what happens! We have no comment to make on that, have we, Miss Osborne?"

"Nothing at all," replied Barbara scornfully.

"I'm at the Saluda House at present. See me tomorrow and I may have another story for you!" and Griswold shook the reporter warmly by the hand as they parted at the carriage door.

"Home," said Barbara for the reporter's benefit, and then, to Griswold: "I must speak of another matter. Drive with me a little way until we can throw the reporter off."

She spoke quietly, but he saw that she was preoccupied with some new phase of the situation, and as the carriage gained headway she said earnestly:

"That young man told the truth—I am sure of it—about Mr. Bossworth. I knew he would do something to injure father if he could, but I did not know he had the courage to go so far."

"It's only politics, Miss Osborne," said Griswold lightly. "Besides, you may be sure the Intelligencer will print the governor's side of it in its largest type."

"No; it is not politics. It is more despicable, more contemptible, more ungenerous even than politics. But he shall be punished, humiliated for his conduct."

"You shall fix his punishment yourself!" laughed Griswold; "but the state's business first. We have a little more to do before I am satisfied with the day's work."

"Yes, of course. We must leave nothing undone that father would do were he here to act for himself."

"We must be even more careful in his absence to safeguard his honor than the case really requires. We not only have his public responsibility but our own into the bargain in so far as we speak and act for him. And there's always the state—the Palmetto flag must be kept flying at the masthead." Their eyes met as they passed under an electric lamp and he saw how completely she was relying on his guidance.

They were now at the edge of town and she bade him stop the carriage.

"We must go to the state house," said Griswold. "We must get that requisition, to guard against treason in the citadel. Assuming that Governor Osborne really doesn't want to see Appleweight punished we'd better hold the requisition anyhow. It's possible that your father had it ready—pardon me!—for a grandstand play, or he may have wanted to bring Appleweight into the friendlier state;—but that's all conjectural. We'd better keep out of the principal streets. That reporter has a sharp eye."

She gave the necessary directions, and the driver turned back into Columbia. It was pleasant to fined his accomplice in this conspiracy a girl of keen wit who did not debate matters or ask tiresome questions. The business ahead was serious enough, though he tried by manner, tone and words to minimize its gravity. If the attorney-general was serving a personal spite, or whatever the cause of his attitude, he might go far in taking advantage of the governor's absene. Griswold's relation to the case was equivocal enough, he fully realized; but the very fact of its being without precedent, and so beset with pitfalls for all concerned, was a spur to action. In the present instance a duly executed requisition for the apprehension of a criminal, which could not be replaced if lost, must be held at all hazards, and Griswold had determined to make sure of the gavernor's warrant before he slept.

"Have you the office keys?" he asked.

"Yes; I have been afraid to let go of them. There's a watchman in the building, but he knows me very well. There will not be the slightest trouble about getting in."

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will La Crosse People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a La Crosse citizen:

Fred L. Mabie, 620 South Eighth street, La Crosse, Wis., says:

"About twenty-five years ago I fell and injured my spine and I believe this was the cause of my kidney trouble. My kidneys were much disordered and caused me great annoyance. Finally, procuring Doan's Kidney Pills from Erhart's drug store, I began using them according to directions and received great relief. Since that time I have never appealed to this remedy in vain and am confident Doan's Kidney Pills will cure any case of kidney trouble."

Are Drugs Necessary? Do Drugs Cure Disease? Can Nature be Assisted?

If people were born right and afterwards lived right, there would be no use for medicine. Every doctor knows this. So do other well-informed people.

One thing more. When a person lives wrongly, or acquires bodily weakness by heredity, medicine can do only very little. Medicine cannot cure him. Only charlatans claim that medicines will cure disease. Medicines may palliate symptoms. Medicines may urge the powers of Nature to resist disease. Medicines sometimes arouse the efforts of the human body to right itself against derangements. This is the most that medicine can do.

A man accidentally puts his finger in the fire. Instinctively he wets his finger in his mouth, then blows on it for the cooling effect. This is no cure. He knows it very well. But it makes it feel better for the time being.

People eat unwisely. This produces dyspepsia or indigestion. The only rational cure is to eat correctly. Yet if a palliative is at hand the pains of indigestion can be mitigated, the throes of dyspepsia assuaged. The medicine cannot be said to have cured. It simply palliates disagreeable symptoms. The cure must come through right living.

Take Peruna, for instance. No one claims Peruna is a cure for dyspepsia. But Peruna will stimulate the stomach to perform its function properly. Peruna will increase the flow of digestive fluids, without which digestion cannot be carried on at all. It will increase the relish of food, the appetite.

It is admitted that all this can be accomplished by right living, but there are so many people who either will not or do not know how to eat correctly that a tremendous amount of good can be done by the wise use of Peruna.

A stomach that has been frequently abused performs the function of digestion very lazily. Such a stomach allows the food to remain undigested for some time after it is swallowed. This leads to fermentation of the food. Sour stomach is the result. This goes on week after week, until the blood is poisoned with the products of fermentation. This condition is very apt to produce rheumatism.

It is not claimed that Peruna will cure rheumatism. Nothing will cure rheumatism but correct living. But it is claimed that Peruna will assist a badly abused stomach to perform its work.

If a person would correct his habits, persist in right eating and temperate ways, undoubtedly the stomach would right itself, the blood would rid itself of the poison, and everything would be right. But as said before there are a multitude of people who will not or cannot adopt right methods of living. To such people Peruna is a boon. A dose before meals will assist the stomach to do its work. This prevents fermentation of the food, brings about normal digestion, and all the train of ills that follow indigestion disappear.

In other words, Peruna is helpful to those who live badly, or those who have acquired some chronic weakness. Peruna does not cure, but it assists the powers of Nature to bring about a cure.

The whip does not increase the power of the horse to pull a load, but judiciously used it stimulates the horse to use his powers at the right time, without which he could not have pulled the load.

This illustrates the effect of Peruna, or any other good remedy upon the system. Taken at the right time, it calls forth the powers of the human system to meet the encroachments of disease, and thus cuts short, if not entirely ends, the diseased action.

No one should ever attempt to substitute medicine in the place of right living. In the end such an attempt will prove a disaster. But an occasional use of the right medicine at the right time is a godsend, and no reasonable person will undertake to deny it.

Those who know how to use Peruna find it of untold value. By and by the world will get wise enough so that through correct living no medicine at all will be needed. But that time has not arrived. In the meantime, while the world is approaching that perfection in which all medicine will be eliminated, Peruna is a handy remedy to have in the house.

Slight derangements of the stomach, slight catarrhal attacks of the liver, the throat, bronchial tubes, lungs or bowels; these attacks are sure to lead to grave diseases, and can be averted by the judicious use of Peruna.

Wouldn't you like to read a few unsolicited testimonials from people who have used Peruna, and who stand ready to confirm the above statements concerning it. If so, address the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio, and we will send some prepaid.

ROADS AGREE ON STANDARD TICKET

A feeling of relief has been experienced by the western railroads over the fact that the question which for more than four years has baffled all attempts at solution seems at last to be approaching a state of settlement throughout the country, and has just been finally disposed of as far as the western passenger association lines are concerned. These lines have at last agreed on a standard form of passenger ticket. As the Milwaukee road is a member of this association, the effects of the action will be noticeable in this city, and local railroad men express themselves as well pleased with the approaching result of this decision. The difficulty which so long seemed insurmountable was presented by the inability of the railroads to arrive at an agreement as to a standard form of ticket contract to cover all contingencies. The matter now seems to have arrived at a satisfactory solution.

It is understood that the roads of the Central Passenger association will take similar action in regard to this matter.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

PRESTON MAN DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

PRESTON, Minn., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—John Miller, an old and highly respected resident of this city, died at his home here Thursday evening at 8:45, aged 78 years. Mr. Miller was sick but five days, death resulting from Bright's disease and pneumonia. He leaves three daughter, two of whom Mrs. Carl Kuethe and Mrs. Louise Kramer, reside in this city. His wife has been dead about a year.

Mr. Miller came to this vicinity in 1855 with a span of oxen and went to farming about three miles east of Preston. At that time Winona and McGregor, Iowa, were the only markets in this vicinity, and it was to these places that Mr. Miller hauled his grain. About fifteen years ago he sold his farm and moved to this city where he has lived ever since.

Funeral services have not been arranged as yet.

SCHOOL TEACHER BURNED HER WHIP

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 23.—The size of the whip with which Miss Margaret Lennon, principal of the McKinley school, chastised A. L. Fabian is troubling some of the members of the school board.

Miss Lennon told the board that it was a diminutive thing, a child's carriage whip, a mere toy. Mrs. Sophie Fabian, mother of the boy, said that the whip was a horse whip, as thick at the heavy end as a big man's thumb, and about four feet long. She was repeating the description which the lad gave her after he had reached home.

In order to settle the question the board members asked Miss Lennon that it be exhibited. She said she had burned the whip.

EBERHART TALKS OF AMERICAN FARM

CROOKSTON, Minn., Oct. 23.—Governor Eberhart made his first address as the state's executive before a county fair audience yesterday. The grounds were crowded, despite the rather cold, forbidding weather. The governor made a fine impression and was heartily complimented. His subject was "The American Farm."

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. O. T. Erhart.

Miss Huntoon will carry a complete line of Stationery and Novelty Goods at Geiwitz Jewelry Store, 514 Main St.

OWLS ORGANIZE NORTH SIDE LODGE

Frank Farnham Elected President of New Secret Society Chapter at Fjelstad's Hall

The order of Owls last evening instituted a local lodge at Fjelstad's hall on Caledonia street. About 100 members were taken into the order, C. L. Elledge of St. Paul and W. T. Meade of Buffalo, two national organizers, having charge of the work. A very interesting time was enjoyed by all present, and from enthusiasm evinced last evening, the local lodge will be one of the strongest fraternal organizations in the city. The following officers were elected:

President—Frank Farnham.
Vice president—C. E. Inglewetson.
Invicator—Mark Kaiser.
Secretary—W. Y. McGashen.
Treasurer—Phillip Roggensack.
Warden—O. E. Smith.
Sentinel—J. Osweiler.
Picket—O. J. Kimbal.
Physician—Dr. George Lueck.

WE ARE SNOBBISH SAYS DR. EDWARDS

Milwaukee Rector Says the American People Have This Trait; Favors "Muck Raking"

Americans, as a rule, are inclined to be snobbish, was the declaration of the Rev. Frederick Edwards, D. D., rector of St. James Episcopal church, Milwaukee, before the evening session of the sixth annual meeting of the Western Wisconsin teachers' association held at the normal school last night.

The Rev. Edwards followed the idea of previous speakers in urging that it was time that the young people of the country be imbued with the idea of better government and the downing of the corporation control.

The so-called "muck-raking," the speaker said in opening his address, was a good thing for the country if it was the right kind of muck raking and he pointed out that the displaying, by the press, or other agencies of the people, of little defects in affairs was absolutely necessary to good government and industrials affairs.

The public school, he stated, have probably received more public criticism than anything else and he argued that education and public schools systems had reached the point when it was necessary for them to change the people's ideas of what should be taught rather than the time when people should say what studies students should be compelled to take.

As an illustration of the remarkably high standard the public schools of America have reached he described the miserable system of schools in England, his native land, at the time he was a boy. The system he claims, is but little better today.

There the son of the average family has absolutely no chance of rising to a place of influence in industrial or state affairs owing to the absence of free education.

"Everything in England was under the civil service system," he said, "owing to the miserable school system only the sons of the rich were allowed the privileges of the great universities of which the country boasted. The trouble with England at that time was that it was organized from the top down and the son of the wage earner was without a chance no matter how great the opopportunity."

The speaker said when in England he worked and saved enough to come to America and within a month after his arrival he had entered a preparatory school, later spent a year there, four years in college and four years in the professional school.

"All of this," he claimed, "was without the expenditure of any of my savings accumulated in England."

Further in his address he announced that behind all educational movements, the spirit which has conceived state control of schools and the propogation of education was the church and much of his discourse was spent discussing the influence of the church upon the school.

A more thoroughness in the imparting of fundamental knowledge was argued for with great zeal.

The tendency of the young America to go away to be great was decribed and his arguments were along the line of "Stay at home and grow to greatness."

RAILROAD RATES WILL NOT INCREASE

No Likelihood of Roads Running Through La Crosse Following Eastern Example

Interviews with local railway officials bring out the fact that although freight rates will be raised in the east, there is at present no probability of the rates being increased in this section of the country. The roads in this section of the United States have been doing a prosperous business during the past year and officials say that a raise is not contemplated. Some of the lines show increased earnings over last year and conditions have begun to approach those prevailing before the late financial stringency. The railroads in this section made a better showing in the past fiscal year than in the previous one, not only because they handled more business but because they cut down expenses. The operating expenses during the past year showed an increase in the aggregate, but the ratio was lower than the increase in revenues.

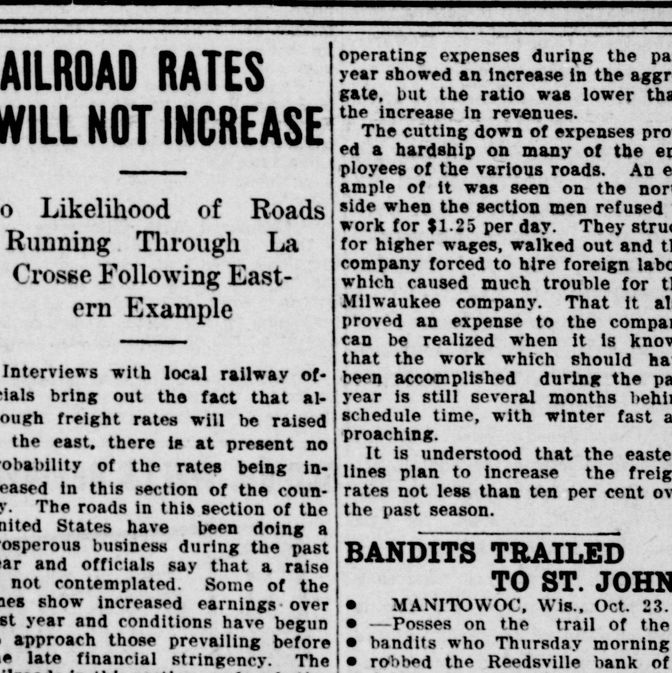

The cutting down of expenses proved a hardship on many of the employees of the various roads. An example of it was seen on the north side when the section men refused to work for $1.25 per day. They struck for higher wages, walked out and the company forced to hire foreign labor, which caused much trouble for the Milwaukee company. That it also proved an expense to the company can be realized when it is known that the work which should have been accomplished during the past year is still several months behind schedule time, with winter fast approaching.

It is understood that the eastern lines plan to increase the freight rates not less than ten per cent over the past season.

BANDITS TRAILED TO ST. JOHNS

MANITOWOC, Wis., Oct. 23.—Posses on the trail of the bandits who Thursday morning robbed the Reedsville bank of 6,600 after blowing the safe, have traced the fugitives as far as St. John's on the Wisconsin Central railroad, five miles west of Hilbert Junction.

TWO YALE STAR MEN

Murphy (Kneeling), Kil patrick (Standing.)

Kilpatrick gives promise of being one of the best ends Yale ever had. Last year he played a great game until an injury to his knee forced him to retire for the season. He is speedy, having held a place on the track team in the spring as a hurdler. Kilpatrick is a product of Phillips-Andover and was one of the star prep athletes when in school. In addition to his offessive and defensive strength he is a reliable place kicker.

Murphy has been used at halfback in the early season games. He is a baseball and basketball player and one of Yale's all around athletes.

SOCIETY COMIC OPERA

Little else is being discussed this week than the society comis opera "Up and Down Broadway" which will be presented at the theater Thursday evening for the benefit of the Home for the Friendless. Donald MacDonald, who is staging the production is one of our best known society men, and has not been seen on the local stage in over five years. His previous plays have always been great social events and the audience which will fill the theater next Thursday will be a wonderful sight, as society will turn out in full force and in holiday array, an unusual sight in the theaters these days. Mr. MacDonald leaves immediately after the play for Spokane and the University of Montana where he will stage his plays, returning to Detroit after the holidays for a week's engagement at the Detroit opera house.

CHARITY BALL TO TAKE PLACE NOV. 12

Promoters Plan that it Shall Outshine Past Events in Magnificence and Pleasure

The crowning event of the year, the annual charity ball, which will be held at Germania hall on the evening of Nov. 12, will be given under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the La Crosse hospital, and the proceeds will be donated to the free ward of the institution.

It is planned to make the ball a gorgeous event, surpassing all previous efforts.

It is the purpose of the committee this year to make the ball just as pleasant for the onlookers as the dancers, and among other arrangements being made for their entertainment is a select musical program which will be rendered before the dancing.

Plans for the event are already well in hand and arrangements are under way. Mrs. John Brindley, president of the Women's auxiliary, is the general chairman of the committees. Heads of the sub-committees are as follows:

Tickets—Mrs. George W. Burton.
Soliciting—Mrs. Geo. H. Gordon.
Supper—Mrs. M. I. Berger.
Dining room—Mrs. W. R. Finch.
Hall furnishing—Mrs. C. J. eFlber.
Music—Mrs. A. P. Hankerson.
Hall and program,—Mrs. John A. Bayer.
Punch room—Mrs. Henry Gund.

FARMER BOY BUILDS NEW AEROPLANE

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Oct. 23. —Walter Moldenhauer, a farmer boy residing near here, has nearly completed an airship. It is of the monoplane type.

A four-cylinder sixteen horse power engine is being installed. A trial flight to take place soon is being awaited with interest.

Moldenhauer has already made a motorcycle and an automobile.

One of the justifications for the way a girl makes a fool of a man is he never dreams it.

Remains a Sweet Memory
I mean the pleasing effect of the remedy I'm going to mention, on an attack of a severe cough or cold. The danger and suffering of such an attack is absolutely removed if you're lucky enough to have a bottle of this remedy, which is known as Gray's Yerba Santa. You can watch yourself improving with each succeeding dose, and in place of torture and worry, you will be filled with a feeling of ease, comfort and surprise. To prove this I will let you try a half bottle at my expense, and urge you to make use of this offer at once.

DIED IN HEROIC ACT

COLLINSVILLE, O., Oct. 23.—The investigation into the cause of the head-on collision here late yesterday afternoon when seven Pennsylvania trainmen and mail clerks were killed, has disclosed Engineer Brown of the passenger train, one of the dead, as a hero.

As his train sped through the switch he closed the throttle and applied the air. That none of the passengers were killed is entirely due to the engineer's presence of mind.

CHICKEN STEW IS AIRED IN COURT

Five Small Boys who Held Big Feast on Neighbor's Fowl Regret Their Escapade Today

Roy Nimocks, Emil Ginutie, William Leonard, Albert Priebe, and Slyvester King all small boys residing in the north end of the south side, discovered a chicken running at large yesterday afternoon and decided that they would have a stew. As a result they are all in county court this morning, and two of them were held in jail until two o'clock this afternoon when they were discharged by the court.

Judge Brindley reprimanded the boys and wrote leters to their parents requesting a personal interview with them.

The "stew" was served and eaten in true Indian style in the marsh below the Bartl brewery. The chicken which they devoured was the property of Elizabeth Buckner.

CHARGE M. C. WITH MINING SWINDLE

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 23. — A man who was registered at a local hotel as P. H. Harris, Chicago, but who the police allege is former Congressman C. D. Van Duzer of Nevada, was arrested here today, charged with selling mining stock to Pittsburgers, thre years ago, which proved worthless. The police claim that they have several complaints against him and also that a local hotel accuses him of failing to pay a bill incurred during a former visit to the city.

WINNING FIGHT ON WHITE PLAGUE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.—A continued decline in the death rate from tuberculosis is the probability held out by Chief Statistician Wulbur of the census bureau. There was a decrease in the rate per 100,000 from 183.6 in 1907 to 173.9 in 1908. The total number of deaths from all forms of tuberculosis last year was 78,289. The rate declined in all states where deaths are registered except Colorado, Rhode Island and Vermont. Pneumonia furnished the next largest number of victims, its rate being 136 per 100,000 last year.

Charcoal Lozenges Powerful Absorbents

Offensive Breath and Stomach Gases Cannot Exist When They are Used

Charcoal, by virtue of its porous nature, takes up gases mechanically as a sponge takes up water. Its capacity in this respect is in proportion to the number and fineness of its pores. Charcoal made from poplar, beechwood, vegetable ivory, cocoanut shells and willow-wood, is a compact, heavy substance, having a metallic luster, the pores being quite invisible.

Chemical tests of various kinds performed by expert chemists have revealed the fact that charcoal made from willow wood, is not only absolutely harmless, but that it is by far the most powerful absorbent of all kinds of gases. Certain other woods, mentioned above, are used by some manufacturers in making charcoal, and besides not being half as effective in absorbing stomach-gases, have also been found to be positively harmful to the digestive system.

Willow-wood charcoal is then the very best for the purpose of absorbing excessive gas of the stomach, removing intestinal flatus, and purifying foul breath. Charcoal to be effective against gastric flatulence must be introduced among the gases of the stomach in the same state as when fresh from the crucible. The means of effecting this is to compress them into soluble lozenges, so that after being dissolved in the mouth and swallowed, the charcoal is "set free," and at once begins its work of oxidizing and absorbing foul gases, and also, through its anti-septic properties, of purifying the entire alimentary tract.

It is definitely known that the absorbent and cleansing action of charcoal is protracted and continued through the intestinal system as well as in the stomach, and it proves beneficial there also.

In STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES we have a gas-absorbing remedy which readily takes precedence over all others. The charcoal used in them is the very best that can be obtained. They are composed of the finest young willow-wood, converted into charcoal by the special, carbonizing Stuart Process, and before being compressed into Lozenges, the powdered charcoal is rendered sweet and thoroughly agreeable to the taste by being mixed with pure honey, and the result is a product equally as palatable as candy.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges have attained a wide popularity among the people, millions of boxes being sold every year. They have, over and over again proven their efficiency as rapid and powerful absorbents of foul stomach-gases, relieving and curing flatulence, belching, or the eructation of gases, and finally in the purification of offensive breath.

Buy a package of these little lozenges from your druggist for 25 cents and forward us your name and address for free sample package. Address, F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

MR. LEWIS AT LAST FINDS VINDICATION

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—On motion of U. S. Atty. Blodgett six cases against E. G. Lewis, president of the Lewis Publishing Co., were nolled in the federal court today. Judge Smith McPherson ordered the cases dropped. Three counts against Lewis charged him with using the mails to defraud in connection with the organization of the Peoples' United States Bank which was closed by a postal fraud order in 1905.

There have been two federal court trials in one of which the jury disagreed, and in the other, the judge took the case from the jury and ordered it dismissed.

MORRIS PLEADS FOR MORAL VIEW

appropriation upon the school came before the legislature it met with attacks of all kinds.

He intimated that even now the feeling against the placing of the "U" on a solid financial basis had had not been quelled and advised that every possible effort be used to defeat plans to place it again under the budget system.

Shall Teachers Pension Selves

A pension for teachers, the bill for which passed both houses of the legislature at the last session but which was vetoed by Governor Davidson, was said by the speaker to be an admirable plan but he pointed out little defects in the bill which had met with opposition and suggested that a plan of the teachers pensioning themselves be worked out.

Schools Out of Politics

The principle now in vogue of electing county superintendents was said by Senator Morris to be wrong and he urged that everything possible be done to take the selection of the man for this office out of politics. He said that, in politics, a candidate is apt to be given preference for the office because it is believed his nationality will be apt to contribute votes to the party which selected him, rather than because of his qualifications.

He raised the question as to whether or not the fact that the average graduate of universities scoffs at work is not due to a lack of some fundamental facts and principles which should have been instilled in him during his graded high school or university life.

For Moral Education

He made a plea for more practical education—the kind that will make better citizens, men who can see through all the subterfuges of so-called politicians and be able to realize what is right.

"And when you train your scholars to see what is right make it a point to educate them so that they will have the moral courage to stand by what they know is right, whether it means rise or fall."

Hazelwood Compliments "Tom"

Senator Morris was followed by Senator Hazelwood, who paid a high tribute to the work of Senator Morris for education in Wisconsin, dwelling especially upon his service as a member and president of the state board of normal school regents.

"He has done much for education and educators, in this state," said Hazlewood, "and that is the reason he should have the support of every teacher in the state towards sending tim to the governor's chair."

Cheers for Morris

This reference to the possible candidacy of Senator Morris for the governorship was met with deafening applause.

Senator Hazlewood urged that some of the money now being expended for school insurance could be used for education.

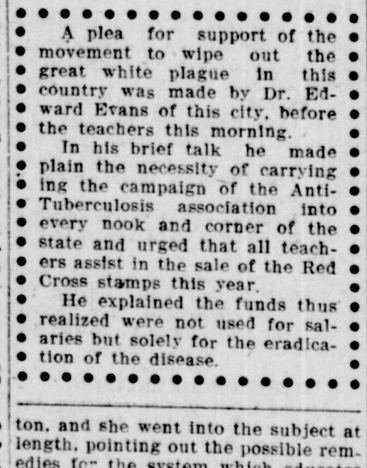

Miss McMillan Talks

The deplorable lack of competent teachers for country schols was decried by Miss Mattie McMillan, Mauston, and she went into the subject at length, pointing out the possible remedies for the system which educates the teachers for the city and does nothing for the children of the country.

Cotton on the Practical

In explaining just what he meant by practical education he said that it was the training which suited men

FASSET A. COTTON

The tendency of scholars to fight away from farming and other of the erroneously considered, lowlier professions—for, he said, farming is fast becoming a profession—was pointed out as an evil which would undoubtedly result disastrously for the country.

"Greater scholarship and greater wages for teacheds are necessary for the advance of education," he declared in closing.

The Resolutions

The following resolutions were submitted and adopted at this morning's session of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' Association.

Resolved, That the Western Wisconsin Teachers' Association extend to the new state normal school, located in this city, a most cordial welcome, and we hereby extend to Regent Morris, President Cotton and the faculty of the school hearty thanks for the use of the beautiful building and for the many courtesies extended by them during the present session of the convention.

Resolved, that we express to the teachers of the La Crosse public schools our appreciation of their efforts to make this meeting a pleasure and a success;

Resolved, that this assaciation is indebted to those friends who came from outside the limits of the territory of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' Asociation, and who have contributed so greatly to the profit of this meeting.

Resolved, That our thanks are due to the newspapers of La Crosse and of neighboring towns for the generous assistance in advertising and reporting the proceedings of the meetings.

Resolved, That we appreciate the invitations extended to our membership by the authorities of the United States Weather Bureau and the La Crosse Public library and we feel under special obligation to Miss Martha Rollins, the High School Glee club and orchestra and to Miss Marion Voss Burgh and her pupils who contributed so delightfully to the enjoyment of the session.

Resolved, That it is the sense and belief of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' Association in convention assembled that the efficiency of the public schools in Wisconsin would be greatly improved by the establishment of a teachers' retirement fund.

Resoved, That the attention of school authorities should be called to the possible economics of a state-wide system of mutual fire insurance for public schools.

Resolved, That we congregatulate the president and other retiring officers of this association upon the excellence of their program and upon the fact that there is a handsome surplus in the treasury.

LAWYER JAILED FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 23.—Because he laughed at the judge and threatened to assault him Everett S. Cary, one of the most prominent criminal lawyers of the northwest, was yesterday sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge Andrew Holt of the Hennepin county district court, for contempt of court. An hour later after the sentence had been stayed for thirty days, the judge ordered the attorney placed in the county jail on repetition of the offense.

Last evening Judge Holt refused to listen to Cary's friends and no amount of bail could induce him to release the attorney until Monday. It is also likely that the thirty days sentence will be enforced.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Dick Walsh and J. J. Tray were arrested yesterday and are confined at the police station awaiting arraignment in county court on a charge of larceny from the person preferred by Leonard Ecklund. Ecklund went to sleep in the Palm Leaf saloon, north Third street and when he awoke his watch was gone. It was found in a pawn shop and the pawn broker's description of the two men tallied with the description of the two men who had been Ecklund's companions with the result that they were arrested.

CONNECT HATFIELD CURENT

Within a very few days, the boilers at the Edison Light plant will be needed only for the purpose of furnishing the city heating plant with steam. Thursday the last of three immense electrical transformers was installed and within a few days power from the Hatfield plant will be turned on for lighting purposes. Lines for transmitting the current are being strung from the North side. Thirty-eight tungsten street lights are being installed at Onalaska.

FEARED TOTAL LOSS OF HAIR

Scalp had been Scaly for Some Time —After an Attack of Typhoid Fever his Hair Began to Fall Out by the Handful—Now It is

THICKER THAN EVER THANKS TO CUTICURA

"About two years ago I was troubled with my head being scaly, like dandruff but heavier—although I wash my head once a week always. It never gave me any trouble such as itching or smarting and I never noticed any falling of the hair. But shortly after that I had an attack of typhoid fever and I was out of the hospital possibly two months when I first noticed the loss of hair, my scalp being still scaly. I started to use a dandruff cure to no effect whatever. And I used a quinine preparation quite freely which did no good either. Whether it was the effect of the fever or some scalp disease I don't know, but I had actually lost hope of saving any hair at all. I could brush it off my coat by the handful. It got so bad that I didn't need to comb it any more — in fact I was afraid to. My brother, who had used the Cuticura Remedies with satisfaction, advised me to try them. After using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and nearly a box of Cuticura Ointment, the change was surprising. My scalp is now clear and healthy as could be and my hair thicker than ever, whereas six months ago I had my mind made up to be bald in a short time. I will have a photograph taken later and send you one. William F. Steese, 5812 Broad St., Pittsburg, Penn., May 7 and 21, '08."

Warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, assisted when necessary by Cuticura Resolvent (liquid or pills), afford instant relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning, scaly, crusted humors, eczemas, rashes, inflammations, irritations and chafings of infancy and childhood, permit rest and sleep and point to a speedy and permanent cure, in the majority of cases, when all other remedies fail.

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Ointment (50c.), Resolvent (50c.), and Chocolate Coated Pills (25c.), are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 137 Columbus Ave., Boston.

KAISER REPORTS FARM PRODUCTS

Supervisor of Assessments Issues Figures Showing Prosperity of the County

FARMINGTON LEADS TOWNS

Has Largest Acreage and Grows More Produce Than the Others; Shelby Butter Center

That La Crosse county farmers are prosperous and that bigger crops are being raised every year as more land is taken under cultivation is the information gained by a perusal of the certified statement of the principal farm products grown in La Crosse county which has just been prepared by Supervisor of Assessments Kaiser and County Clerk Charles H. Rawlinson and will form a part of the report to the La Crosse county board at its November meeting. County Clerk Rawlinson has called a meeting of the county assessment committee to be held at his office in the county court house Monday Nov. 1, for the purpose of going over the figures.

La Crosse county raises more oats, corn, barley and potatoes than other products. The oat crop leads with 727,328 bushels grown on 26,801 acres of land. Corn follows with 564,896 bushels raised on 19,853 acres. Barley is raised on 12,277 acres, the total crop amounting to 302,209 bushels. There are 1,574 acres of potatoes in La Crosse county, producing annually 120,524 bushels of "spuds."

Farmington Leader

The town of Farmington, which has the largest acreage of farm land in the county, leads all other towns in the raising of wheat, corn, oats, rye and hay. Farmington produces 10,400 bushels of wheat on 520 acres. Burns produces the least wheat in the county, only 719 bushels on 46 acres planted.

On 3,640 acres planted, the town of Farmington raises 124,400 bushels of corn. The town of Washington produces the least corn, 19,170 bushels on 757 acres planted. Of the magnificent La Crosse county oat crop the town of Farmington produces 159,600 bushels. There are 4,560 acres of land planted with oats in this town. Shelby raises less oats than the other towns, namely 31,430 bushels on 1,183 acres.

Barley is raised very extensively in the town of Hamilton. Here 61,790 bushels are grown this year on 2,275 acres. Shelby, which raises the least barley, has 461 acres planted, producing 11,070 bushels.

Rye is raised chiefly in the town of Farmington which has 1,340 acres planted producing 16,080 bushels. There is also a considerable amount of rye raised in the town of Holland. Other towns in the county produce small amounts, with the exception of Barre and Hamilton.

Campbell Raises Potatoes

The town of Campbell can be said to provide all of the potatoes consumed in La Crosse. This town has 279 acres planted with the tubers and every year markets 29,620 bushels. Potatoes are raised in all of the towns of the county, Washington having the least, only 3,470 bushels.

Hayland is very productive in the town of Farmington. Here are 6,830 acres planted, producing 11,780 tons. Much of this is marketed in La Crosse. Barre raises 1,868 tons of hay, the minimum amount.

Shelby Butter Center.

Farmers' wives in the town of Shelby churn annually 83,175 pounds of butter and 500 pounds of cheese are marketed from this town. Shelby also furnishes the principal part of the milk which comes into La Crosse, about 220,700 gallons being marketed annually. There is no butter manufactured for market in the towns of Burns or Washington.

Campbell is the town of strawberries and raspberries, producing 2,870 bushels of the former and 1,300 bushels of the latter, all of which find market in La Crosse. Bangor leads in apples, having 5,600 bushels annually. Apples are raised in all of the towns of the county with the exception of Onalaska.

The village of West Salem raises more blackberries for market than any other town, namely 314 bushels. In the town of Shelby 320 bushels of grapes are raised, which are annually marketed in this city, either in their natural state or in the shape of grape wine.

Worms

"Cascarets are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape-worm 48 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Freck, of Millersburg, Dauphin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarets. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood." Chas. E. Condon, Lewiston, Pa., (Mifflin Co.)

Waltham Watches

Don't Be Fooled

Buying a watch ought to be a serious business. If you pick up a catalogue issued by a mail order house and send on to Chicago or some other place for a watch, you are likely to be disappointed. The thing to do is to go to a jeweler; tell him you want a Waltham Watch. He will give you what you want; but before you pay him he will overhaul the mechanism, oil it up, get the watch in good running shape and keep it so for any reasonable length of time; and any watch bought from a responsible watchmaker or jeweler that does go wrong this Company will make good. We cannot, however, stand back of watches bought haphazard from the catalogues of mail order houses.

Pacific Coast House Talks Horse-Sense About The So-Called Piano "Purchase Certificates"

The Wiley B. Allen Co., San Francisco, have issued to the San Francisco public a statement entitled, "Common Sense and Piano Bonds." It reads as follows:

"Within the past four months as 'prizes' for solving rebus puzzles, counting dots on piano pictures, word contests, geographical problems, etc., there has been distributed in San Francisco, Oakland and the cities of the bay counties more than $12,000,000 in certificates, gold bonds, manufacturers' bonds, credit coupons, etc., which are good only if applied on the purchase price of a new piano at the store from which the bond or certificate is issued, not more than one certificate to apply on any purchase. Thousands of persons have answered these advertisements, sending their solution of the puzzle, and to each and everyone of these has been mailed a bond or certificate, varying in its apparent value from $80 to $125—the average amount being $100—regardless of the correctness of the answer submitted.

"In a recent prize contest one piano firm claimed to have received more than 30,000 replies. Taking the smallest bond issued by that house, which was $80, it would appear that $2,400,000 in bonds is outstanding against that concern. Another firm recently sent out 7,000 certificates of $125 each, or $875,000, thus creating a floating indebtedness in this amount, all of which is redeemable only by applying the face value of the certificate on the purchase price of a new piano, and limiting the time of purchase usually to one month from date of the bond. During the past year not less than ten of these certificate and bond contests have been advertised and carried out in San Francisco and Oakland. It is safe to say that today there are in circulation not less than $20,000,000 in bonds and certificates bearing the signature of piano firms and music dealers.

"This whole bond plan is based on the desire of the public generally to get 'something for nothing,' the selling plan usually adopted being to mark up the price of all pianos from $100 to $150, then deducting the face value of the bond from the market price. The cost is easy. The buyer gets the piano, paying for it $100 to $150 more than the regular price, and having the face value of his bond deducted or credited to his account on the piano contract.

"If a piano bond is worth $100 an a piano, it should have a fixed monetary value, which should apply on any other article of merchandise carried by the house issuing the bond. No bond house will accept these credits in payment for other goods. Try and buy a phonograph with a $100 bond. Can't be done. Offer it for a 50 cent sheet of music—$100 for 50 cents—and get turned down."

Take your piano bond and go to the house issuing it; select your piano, learn the cash difference — what you must pay in money—then come to our store or go to any dealer in the city who does not issue certificates, bonds, etc., and you can buy the same piano, grade for grade, quality for quality, for 15 per cent. to 25 per cent. less than the cash difference at the bond house. Come in and talk it over.

Stock and 4% Convertible Bonds American Telephone and Telegraph Company

On January 1st, 1909, there was in use, in the United States, one Bell Telephone for every twenty of the entire population. The American Telephone & Telegraph Company, as a Holding Company, owns a majority of the stock of the various local Bell Telephone Companies throughout the United States and Canada, including the Western Electric Company. As an Operating Company it owns and directly operates all the long distance and toll lines connecting the Bell Telephone Systems.

The stability of the Bell System is indicated by the fact that, while 1908 was a year of very marked business depression, yet the number of Bell telephones increased at the astonishing rate of 17%.

A Remarkable Dividend Record for the Past 27 Years

The American Telephone & Telegraph Company and its predecessors have never paid less than 7½% annual dividends in any one year during the past 27 years. The rate for the past 3 years has been 8%. The Company's policy of issuing new stock to its stockholders at par, so valuable in the past, promises even greater future value.

Both the stock and the 4% Convertible Bonds are lisited on the Stock Exchanges of Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Boston. We recommend these securities for investment and solicit orders for their purchase. Small orders given equal attention with larger.

LAST LETTERS OF FERRIER ARE SAD

Epistles Written in Prison Cell Tell of Plot Against Spain's Greatest Patriot Now Martyred

COURT MARTIAL WAS FIXED

Plan to Murder People's Friend Deliberate Plot of Monarchial Government to be Rid of Socialist

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Two letters said to have been written by Prof. Francisco Ferrer and supposed to have been the last messages sent by him before his execution are published in Chicago today. They are contained in a copy of L'Humanite of Paris, which has reached this city. The letters are dated Oct. 2 and 4, and were written in the Ferrer prison cell. They are addressed to M. Naguel, president of the French committee of defense for political prisoners. The first letter says in part: "You see, the terrible thing was the discovery made by the police in my house of a revolutionary leaflet, a document I had never seen before and which looked old. The judge told me that this leaflet had been found in the presence of my brother and sister. I then told him I could vow that I had never seen it before.

"I gathered from the manner of the court proceedings that it was the intention of the authorities to hold me responsible for everything, notwithstanding I had done nothing.

"Today the judge informed me that he had finished the study of my case; that in a few days I would be tried before a court martial. So, then, all is ended.

"I shall shortly be tried by men who I much fear have minds not sufficiently free to be able to judge seriously the charge laid against me. An infected cell, no light, vile food, requires strength to bear. Every good thing to all, all, all.

"(Signed)

"FRANCISCO FERRER."

The second letter, dated Oct. 4, says in part:

"Althought I am innocent, the prosecutor demands capital punishment, based upon police denunciations representing me the chief of all the world's anarchists, a leader of plots and insurrections everywhere. They charge that my travels to London and Paris were made for that sole purpose, with such infamous lies hoping to kill me.

"I have no time to say more. The whole case arranged by the investigating judges and the police is but a tissuie of lies, and calumnious insiuations. Not a particle of proof against me. I have done no wrong whatever. Greetings—

"FERRER."

GENOA LAD VICTIM OF SCARLET FEVER

GENOA, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special)—Stanton Gillette, little son of John Gillette, Jr., died Tuesday evening. He was six years old and has been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gillette, Sr., since his mother's death five years ago. LA FOLLETTE NOW AFTER KNOX HARD

Declares American People Want to Know About Crane; Hints at Sinister Motive

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 23.—That U. S. Senator La Follette intends to take a hand in demanding a thorough investigation of the removal of Chas R. Crane of Chicago as U. S. minister to China is indicated by an editorial in this week's issue of La Follette's magazine. An editorial in that issue charges that Crane was removed because he refused to bow to the dictates of Wall Street. The editorial says in part:

"Whether or not Mr. Crane discussed this agreement (between Japan and China) with the Record-Herald's correspondent would be considered sensational.

"The important fact is that the article printed was not sensational. It was entirely unofficial. It exposed 'no secrets of state.'

"The public demands more substantial 'reasons' for Mr. Crane's retirement than those offered by Secretary Knox. All the facts behind the sensational affair do not appear to have come to light.

"This much is known. Wall street is anxious to get in on the Chinese loan. Mr. Crane, though himself a big business man, is not subservient to Wall Street. 'We find nothing in the evidence thus far produced to shake our confidence in Mr. Crane. It would seem that, in justice to all parties, the case should rereive a thorough investigation.'"

THE SECRET OUT.

"What made my lovely complexion. I do not like to tell, for it was medicine, but the nicest a woman ever took. It was Lane's Family Medicine that did it." FACULTY FEASTS SENIOR CLASSES

Enjoyable Social Event Is Held at the High School Building Thursday Evening

There was jolly good cheer at the high school Thursday p. m., when the faculty and senior class of the school met for a social evening. As the students entered the north door of the building, they were met by Miss Cora Desmond and Mr. Horton Klein, who directed the boys and girls as to where to put their wraps. They were then ushered down stairs, where Miss Lena Heideman, Mr. Benezet, Miss Mignon Wright and Miss Johns received them. After the guests had all been received programs for a field meet were given out. Those whose names appeared after even numbers joined the ranks of the scrubs, and those after odd numbers allied themselves to the dubs. Fierce was the rivalry between the two sides, and several times during the contest violence was barely prevented, probably due to the fact that Professor Hodgson paraded the track with a huge weapon, bigger in fact than the professor himself. The points were awarded in the following manner: First place received one point, second two points, and so on, the side winning the meet that had the least points. The one hundred yard dash, low hurdles, standing broad grin, vocal vault, shot put, sack race, wheelbarrow race, peanut race, balancing feat and relay race, constituted the events, and so keen was the competition that the result was in doubt until the wheelbarrow race had been finished. The score board then showed 51 points for the scrubs and 57 points for the dubs. At the conclusion of the meet the assemblage repaired to the domestic science room, where light refreshments were served. Everybody reported a very delightful evening.

Hidden in a willow batch near the dike in Brownsville, C. J. Gordon and others of the local section crew accidentally discovered a number of plush-lined boxes and cartons that at one time had evidently contained various articles of jewelry, and later Joe Ringenbach of the crew found a couple of chains and a finger ring near the same place. The boxes had doubtlessly contained silverware, such as knives, forks, spoons and other jewelers' goods and while somewhat faded from exposure to the weather, they still bore the cost and seling marks of some retail jeweler. How these boxes came there is a mystery that may never be solved, but it is the general presumption that they were thrown away by some gang of burglars who had alighted from a freight train and sought the protection of this particular clump of willows as a convenient place in which to divide their swag or plunder.

CARLYLE-MAGNUSSEN NUPTIALS ON WED.

BROWNSVILLE, Minn., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Miss Mattie Carlyle of Brownsville, and Mrs. Herman Magnussen of Lansing, Ia., were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Episcopal church at 1:30 o'clock on Wednesday, by Rev. Henry Allshouse of Lansing. The bride was attired in white satin and caried bride's roses. The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

After the ceremony the couple and guests proceeded to the home of the bride, where a reception was held and an elaborate wedding dinner served. The afternoon was spent in a social manner.

The couple was supported by Emily Paulter and Benj. F. Henry, both of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Magnussen left on the 4:35 north bound train for Nox, North Dakota, where they will visit a brother of the groom.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCann, Charles Hander and Gussie Walknitz of La Crosse and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dolphin and Rev. Henry Allshouse of Lansing.

The bride is a popular young lady in the village having many friends here. Mr. Magnussen is in the employ of "the boat store" of Lansing. The young couple will make their future home at Lansing.

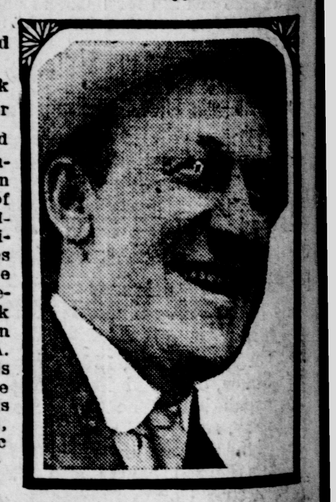

CANDIDATES FOR MAYORALTY HONORS IN INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS.—Brand Whitlock the "People's" candidate for mayor of Toledo, is an author and polished gentleman: Tom Johnson the champion of the "people's" interest in the Cleveland campaign is a man of education and wide business experience, but it has remained for Indianapolis to present two candidates for the mayor's chair, who at the time of their nomination, were representatives of the commonest walk of life. Lew Shank, the republican naminee is an auctioneer and C. A. Gauss, the democratic nominee, is a tinner. The ghost of Shakespeare is said to have left its tomb and is hovering over the literary capital, while the two candidates for public office continue to butcher the English of the queen.

NEW PENNIES AT A PREMIUM.

The recent appearance of the new Lincoln pennies with the three initials of the designer on the bottom caused so much criticism that the government stopped coining them until a new die was made eliminating the initials. This caused a big demand for the first lot and as a result they are now being held at premium prices. Mistakes are very easily made but sometimes not so easily corrected. Therefore be very careful in the selection of a medicine for such ills as Poor Appetite, Flatulency, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness, Colds, Grippe and Malaria, Fever and Ague. Choose Hostetter's Stomach Bitters first of all and be on the safe side. It has stood the test for over 56 years and is in every way worthy of a fair trial. Try a bottle tolay and see for yourself, but insist on getting Hostetter's Bitters.

A complaint that he had used improper language to a woman cook of the jail is the immediate cause of his discharge.

WHAT TO DO WITH FAILURES-BENEZET

High School Principal Discusses Vexing Problem of Teachers in an Optimistic Manner

The following optimistic and entertaining address was delivered by Prof. L. P. Benezet, principal of the La Crosse high school, before the Wisconsin Teachers' convention at the normal school yesterday afternoon:

"At first sight this subject requires a definition, i. e., of 'failure.' What is a failure? Shall we limit the term to those students who at the end of a year or semester have fallen below grade in all studies or shall it include those who have done brilliant work in three out of four, but have failed in the fourth?

"I have been warned by the chairman that I must somehow fill in twenty minutes or more of time and so to prolong the discussion I must needs take the larger definition of the term and include among the 'failures' all high school pupils who have ever fallen below grade in a single study.

Maintain High Standard.

"It may be interesting to know just how large a proportion of the pupils in a high school which maintains a high standard of work fall into this classification. And first let me say that the LaCrosse high school does maintain a high standard. Our passing mark is 75 per cent. Out of 34 pupils who during the past two and a half years have entered our school from other high schools in the country, ranging geographically from Geneva, New York, to Pocatello, Idaho, and in size from Caledonia, Minn., to Chicago, only one has succeeded in maintaining the same grades with us that she brought from without, and she confessed that it cost her quite a little more effort.

"Very well, then; admitted that the La Crosse high school is a fair example of a school which holds its pupils up to a high standard. Out of 347 pupils in the seven upper classes of the La Crosse high school (the entering class, with its 100 members is omitted from these calculations) 161, or 46½ per cent have never failed in a single study; 186, or 53 1-2 per cent, have failed at least once. So that of the pupils who have had a chance to fail, a little more than half have availed themselves of the opportunity.

"However, it will be noticed from the table which I have placed upon the board that an even third of the failures have failed only once, and that another quarter have not failed more than twice. We have a system of extra credits for four years of drawing or four years of music, of which 99 per cent of the pupils avail themselves which enables any pupil to fail twice and let graduate with the class with which he entered. Thus of the total of 347 pupils 267 or 77 per cent are still candidates for graduation with the class with which they entered.

The Percentage of Failures.

"Another set of figures may throw additional light upon the normal percentage of failures. Among the 450 pupils who completed the last semester there were 1,520 credits gained and 188 marks of failure, the failures amounting to nearly 11 per cent of the whole. Counted among the failures are those pupils who dropped a study in which they were sure to fail, but those who left school with standings under grade are not included.

"These 188 failures were divided up among 113 pupils, 74 of whom failed in only one study; only three pupils earned four failures, and only six others fell down in three studies; 75 per cent, then, of the entire number of pupils in the school passed in all of their work; 65 per cent of the remainder failed in only one study out of four, while 41 pupils or 9 per cent failed in at least half of their work.

Causes for Failure.

"Here then is our problem: What are we to do with these failures? But first we cannot prescribe for all alike; we must divide them into two classes, one fairly large, the other, I rejoice to say, very small; i. e., partial failures and total failures. By total failures I mean those pupils who do not only fail in every study but fall away below the passing mark. In any other than the entering class this may happen only from one of two causes: ill health or lack of application, or in plain English, laziness; in the entering class there is added the possibility of insufficient preparation. In any one of the three cases, the pupil should not remain in school. If he is insufficiently prepared, he should return to the grammar school for more preparation. If he is not well he should be taken out and given privately whatever instruction he can stand until he is restored to health. If he can do the work but will not, he should not be allowed to waste the time of the instructor and the class, set a bad example to his mates and continue in habits which will ultimately prove his ruin.

A rule passed by the La Crosse board of education in September, 1907, and considered by many school people throughout the state, I am told, the acme of cruelty and injustice, reads as follows: 'Any pupil who at the end of the first half or third quarter of any semester has an average of 65 per cent or better in but one study out of four shall be dropped from school for the rest of the semester.'

"We have kept account of the pupils who have been dropped out of school under this rule, and they total twenty in the two years during which it has been in execution. Seven of the twenty were pupils who came in from the grammar or parochial schools without sufficient preparation and after ten or fifteen weeks' trial were sent back to the schools from which they came. With the other 13 it was not a case of could not, but would not. Of the whole twenty, fourteen returned to school; of these fourteen only two did no better on their second trial. They eventually drifted off to boarding schools whence they returned later on with stories of brilliant records. The other twelve made a better record upon being readmitted, five only a little better, seven remarkably better. Had we suffered them to remain in school they must have failed totally for the current semester and would have had no incentive to do any better in future. To sum up: Twelve of the twenty showed in their school work marked improvement as a result of the suspension; six of the other eight went to work finding at length occupation suited to their taste where they could learn industry and application. So much for the effect of the law upon the pupils upon whom it was enforced.

Standard Has Risen

"Now for its effect upon the rest of the school. The standard of the school has risen in the last two years and a half; the kind of work that used to be marked barely passing is now termed unsatisfactory; yet in the spring of 1907, with an enrollment of 390 in the school there were 282 failures as against 188 last spring with an enrollment of 500. The percentage of attendance rose from 942 to 078; the tardiness decreased from 1,742 in 1906-07, to 276 in 1908-09.

"But the greatest gain was in the tone of the school and in the attitude of the pupils toward their work. It was brought home to them as never before that time spent in school was not for social purposes but that their parents were paying, at the rate of $82 per pupil per year, for their preparation for their life work.

"So much for the total failures; if they are not sifficiently prepared to do the work, send them back for more preparation; if they can do it but wont, give them a vacation and advise their parents to put them at hard labor so that upon their return they may appreciate the privileges of school.

"Now for the partial failures. If a pupil pass in three studies tnd fail in one, shall we allow him to study it up during the summer and take a special examination in September, or if it is at midyears, permit him to go on with the work of the second half of the year on probation, or shall we compel him to repeat the course and if he fail a second time shall we allow him to begin upon it for a third time?

No Summer Study Allowed

"To take up these questions separately: I have seen in various high schools many cases of this summer study by pupils who have failed, but I have not seen one case out of twenty where I was sure that the pupil was better off in the end for not having repeated the work in class. We do not allow it in the La Crosse high school, but in three cases during my first year here pupils took special examinations and were given credit for summer study before it was discovered they had no permission to take them. Each one of these pupils failed in the work the second semester and had to repeat it. So much for summer study and special second examinations. I do not believe in them: They encourage neglect of work during the spring term A pupil will often slight his work and let it slide if he thinks that it will make little difference whether he fails or not, because he will have a second opportunity to take the exam in the fall. The same argument applies to probationary promotion. The best judgment of the teachers should make the final decision of whether or not a pupil ought to fo on. I do not believe in being a slave to marks. But I beg Mr. McNeel's pardon: I must not encroach on his territory. Once in a rare while the teacher may find a certain pupil whom she could 'flunk' with a clear conscience and yet who might under certain conditions do well in the next semester's work. I have seen several such cases where a pupil was passed upon the condition that he should be retrograded at the end of the first month of the next semester in which his work fell below grade. In nine cases out of ten the experiment was a failure and the pupil had to be sent back to repeat the previous work.

"Now as to how much he should be compelled to repeat:

Semester System Complicated

"Upon coming to La Crosse I found in operation in the high school the semester system, with two classes a year entering and graduating from the high school, and everything reckoned upon the semester unit instead of the year unit, to which I had been accustomed. I promptly conceived a violent dislike to the system because I saw how it multiplied classes and complicated the program; and have been slowly changing my ideas ever since.

"Say what you will for or against the semester system; it is a great boon to the slow or backward pupil. Many a pupil will encounter one subject in the course of four years' work which comes very hard to him, and he will be obliged to repeat part of it before he thoroughly understands it. How much better, then to set him back at the end of the first semester and allow him to take it over while the difficulties of the beginning of the work are still fresh in his mind. In a school with only yearly promotions a pupil who in one subject had become hopelessly befogged by midyears, would have to drop out of class and remain idle for the remainder of the year or sink deeper and deeper into the slough of bewilderment.

"There have been many cases in the high school where pupils have gotten a poor start in a subject, say geometry, and have failed badly in the work of the first semester, but upon second trial have sttod high and have finished the year with a brilliant record.

As to Second Failures

"A query that naturally arises at this point is, "What if the pupil fails a second time?' I can only answer that by quoting a rule of the La Crosse high school. "No pupil who has spent two full semesters upon a subject without successfully completing it shall be allowed to begin it for a third time until he has gained a passing mark in four studies in the course of one semester.' In other words, if a pupil has been unable to complete in two semesters what the average student is expected to finish in one, he is wasting his time and the time of the teacher by taking it up for a third trial and had better be taking some other subject which is more to his taste. The final proviso is added so as not to bar a student finally from a subject which is required for graduation.

"We frequently find pupils who, having failed in the previous semester, are seized with an attack of ambition which springs up quickly, having little root, and who come to us saying: 'I am taking two studies over this year and my work is so easy that I want to take five studies so as to catch up with the class I entered with.' Once in a while the desired permission is given on probation, subject to retraction upon the first signs of failure, but generally the answer has been: 'Show us that you can pass in four studies first; cultivate those forgotten habits of study and close application; then you will be ready to try extra work, but not before.'

'Prevent Failures"

I have given several answers to various phases of the question 'what to do with failures?' My strongest I have reserved for the last. It is Prevent them!

The father of one of my pupils once said to mee, 'Now I am a salesman, and my house says to me. "It is your business to see that we have a market for our goods." In other words I have to deliver the goods.' Now this teacher, as I look at it, is paid to see to it that these pupils learn. If they fail, she has failed to 'deliver the goods'" Now while he had overlooked the fact that no house would expect him to sell to one hundred percent of the customers whom he visited and that his son had been led to water and had had his muzzle (if I may continue the figure of speech) thrust deep into the pail and still refused to drink, still there was a large measure of truth in this gentleman's remark. Fellow teachers, it seems to me that too many of us imagine that we are teaching Algebra and History and forget that we are teaching Sam and Otto and Eric. Get acquainted with your pupils and find out that your method of asking a question, which is just as clear as day to Otto and Eric, has left Sam hopelessly in the dark as to your meaning; find out that Sam is very hard of hearing and that he is sensitive about it and will often say "I don't know rather than ask you to repeat your question; find out that John is working three hours a day to help keep his younger sister in the school and that he has too much work and should not attempt more than three studies at a time; find out that Eric until he became well acquainted with you, thought that you were unfair and partial and did not work for you as cheerfully as for his other teachers; find out the reason (for a reason there must be) why Sarah is failing and Jane is losing interest in her studies. And having found it talk it over with Sarah as you would with your young sister and make her parents aware of the condition.

Cultivate Mutual Understanding

We must always have some failures, I fear, but I maintain that the larger part of our failures could be prevented if there existed between student and teacher a hearty sympathy and mutual understanding.

The pupils will not make the first overtures; it must remain for the teacher to do so. It is asking a great of this overworked and notoriously underpaid individual still it is worth it. In one way it is fortunate for the pupils that the salaries of teachers are so small when compared with what is paid for the same ability, and efforts in other walks of life. It insures that no one will etner the profession who does not love the work. But this is not enough; we must love the pupils too; and give our time and energy far beyond that for which our contracts call.

I have told you what I would do with failures, told you in fact what we do with failures in the La Crosse High school; but I maintain as before that the chief object of our efforts should be to prevent them."

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR KIDNEYS

A Simple Mixture of Well-known Ingredients for Weak or Inactive Kidneys or Bladder, Said to be the Best that Can be Had.

"Mix onehalf ounce fluid extract Buchu, one-half ounce Murax compound and six ounces good pure gin." Take one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day, after eating. PAIR OF COUNTRY KIDS

"A Pair of Country Kids," a rural comedy drama, is the play announced at the La Crosse Theater tonight and from all reports that have reached Manager Gage, the country kids are a lively pair and seem to be making a large number of friends everywhere The play is highly spoken of as a clean up-to-date rural comedy drama, true to nature and with all those lovable folks "down on the farm" that we all remember after we have moved to the city, or that we meet every day where we have been content to remain close to nature with the homespun folks. This company is made up of real actors who can act, sing and dance and will give you an evening of genuine amusement and you will surely laugh at the Kids for they are busy constantly getting in and out of mischief.

A man can buy fun; he has to pray for happiness.

SOCIETY PLAY TO BE PRETTY EVENT

"Up and Down Broadway" Program Announced and Includes Names of Local Social Leaders

The program for "Up and Down Broadway," the comic opera to be be given at the La Crose theater Thursday night for the benefit of the Home of the Friendless has been announced by the director Donald MacDonald.

The cast includes the names of prominent society girls as well as La Crosse soloists and actors who are not altogether unknown.

The show itself is filled with the catchy song hits from "Knight for a Day" and other comic operas and is bound to be a great success here.

The program:

ACT I.

1. "La Fete Champetre," chorus of show girls, flower girls, belles and beaux.

Flower song sung by Mrs. Grace McLindon-Bartl.

2. "They Always Follow Me," by Miss Helen Miller and fourteen young men.

3. "I'm Looking for a Sweetheart," assisted by Mr. Ruel Russell.

4. "A Little Pink Petty From Peter," Mrs. Joseph Bartl and eight Dutch Maidchens.

5. "After the matinee." Madge, a chorus girl, Miss Purnell Horner; Flossie, her chum, Mrs. Jos. Bartl; Sadie McConnell, more or less popular, Miss Kroner; Pansy, a show girl, Miss Elsie Ott; a soubrette, Miss Pearl Bell, the leading lady, Miss Lillian Anderson; Her Maid, Miss Ilene Deneen; The Star, Mr. Donald MacDonald; His Wife, Miss Maud Boyd; Matinee Girls, the Misses Ruth Coleman, Barbara Brown, Grace Heath, Viola Doerflinger, Louise Gund, Pernelle Horner, Alaine Wheeler, May Williams, Frieda Mitchell and Eleanor Marston.

Chorus of stage door "Johnnies" stage hands, etc.

ACT II

1. "Aren't you the girl I met at Sherry's," Mr. Mac Donald assisted by a chorus of young ladies and gentlemen and Miss Elsie Ott, as a shy lass; Miss Laura Cunningham, a girl in a hat; Miss Lillian Kroner, a lady from Boston; Mrs. Joseph Bartl, a waitress.

Messrs Richmond and Spence, who frequent the Dairy Lunch.

2. Glow worm, Miss Ida Aiken and chours; Miss Laura Cunningham and Jeanette Hankerson as "glow worms."

3. Racing octette. Misses Derr, Anderson, William, Mitchell, Coleman, Marston, Gund, Heath; Messrs. Moll, Spence, Smith, Moss, Russell, Harrington, Funk.

4. Finale "Confetti," The Entire company.

Foley's Honey and Tar clears the air passages, stops the irritation in the throat, soothes the inflamed membranes, and the most obstinate cough disappears. Sore and inflamed lungs are healed and strengthened, and the cold is expelled from the system. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellowpa ckage. O. T. Erhart.

STRONG DRAMA NEXT SATURDAY

It was Hannah Moore who wrote: "The world does not require so much to be informed as to be reminded," and there is truth in Hannah's remark. Particularly is it applicable to the drama where transcripts from every day life, if faithfully presented, attract and interest patrons better than any other form of stage entertainment. Human nature delights in seeing itself mirrored, providing the proper photographer's license in flattery is utilized in the operation.

"Commencement Days," which with Frederick V. Bowers will be presented at the La Crosse theater on Saturday, Oct. 30, is the sort of play that attracts the classes and masses alike.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults.

LITTLE JOHNNY JONES ON FRIDAY

Cohan Play of Renown to be Presented Here at End of the Next Week

"Little Johnny Pones," which comes to the La Crosse theater Friday, Oct. 29, is apparently as much of a favorite with theater goers as it was during the days of its initial presentation. It is one of the brightest, snappiest, most up to date musical plays seen for many a day, and the vim and vivacity shown in the work of the players have no little to do with the hit this play succeeds in scoring at each performance.

The song numbers in "Little Johnny Jones" are one of its most fascinating features. As a matter of fact, Mr. Cohan has supplied this particular play with more of his compositions than are noticeable in any of his other productions. The favorite seem to be "They're All My Friends," "Nesting in a New York Tree," "Op in the 'Ansom," "Good Old California," "Good Bye, Flo," "Yankee Doodle Boy," "Life's a Very Funny Proposition After All," and, last but not least, that internationally famous one, "Give My Regards to Broadway," one of Mr. Cohan's most recent contributions to the musical world is a march entitled "Popularity," which is rendered by the orchestra between the first and second acts of the performance of "Little Johnny Jones." It is a fascinating two-step, and is becoming exceedingly popular.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attcak.

A WOMAN'S WAY COMES ON SUNDAY

The plot of "Just a Woman's Way," which will appear at the La Crosse theater next Sunday, Oct. 31 deals with the struggles of a young wife with radical views as to the sanctity of the marriage vow in defending her home and husband against the wiles of a scheming adventuress, who, for the while, seems triumphant. During the action of the play, which finally brings the true wife a hard won victory, extremely strong situations ocur that hold the attention of the audience until, the drop of the final curtain. A humorous little love story running through the play, between two very enthusiastic young people, furnishes a pleasant vein of comedy and relieves the play from too great pathos.

LENA RIVERS IS HERE TOMORROW

When you go to see "Lena Rivers," you may count on getting a good many hearty laughs, not at the old tereotyped business and lines, but at new and clever comedy. Of course the book has strong and beautiful dramatic material and this forms the foundation of the play, but you will be amused as well as entertained. "Joel Slocum" is always conspicuous, and in his scenes with "Granny" and "Lena" takes his audience almost to the verge of hysterical laughter. The entire cast is well balanced and pleasing. The scenic equipment of the play has also received many favorable notices. At the La Crosse Theater tomorrow, matinee and night.

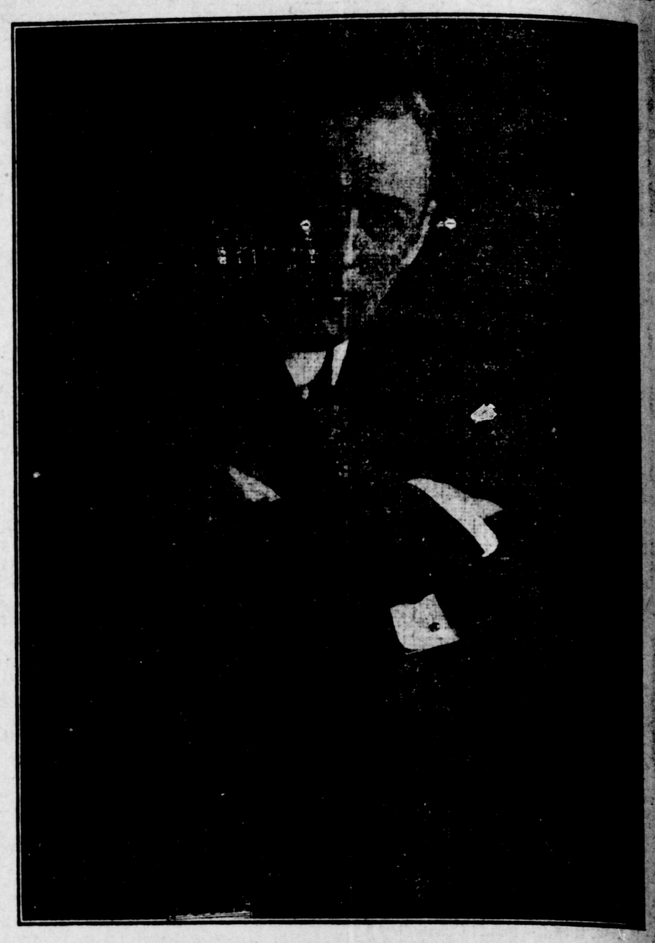

AT BOSTON LIGHTHOUSE

"Father John's Medicine has cured my asthma, my bronchial troubles, and has built me up wonderfully in the last six months. I have gained considerably in flesh and weight and also my face, which has had a number of eruptions, is nearly clear.

The other assistant keeper has had a bad cough all winter and was at last persuaded to try Father John's Medicine and is now entirely well.

I honestly recommend Father John's Medicine as having no equal in my opinion, for coughs asthma, bronchial trouble and as a great body builder." (Signed Harry) N. Perkins, 2d Asst. Keeper, Boston Light, Mass.

AT THE BIJOU THEATER NEXT WEEK

By the looks of the advance notices, the Bijou will have another excellent bill for next week. The work of Mr. Von Gafie is really marvelous and it looks impossible for any human being to do some of the things he does. He combines the suppleness of the spine possessed by contortionists, with the strength and body of an athlete. One of the feats performed by Von Gafie, which he states took him 12 years to learn to perform, is to balance himself with his teeth on an iron rod projecting from a small machine on a table. The entire weight of his body is thrown on his teeth and this one feat alone stamps Mr. Von Gofie as one of the greatest performers in his line in the world.

Mathews & Bannon in a military travesty "The Battle of too Soon" which is considered one of the greatest laughing travesty ever produced. This act carries special scenery and has a stage setting that is beautiful and is bound to be long remembered by the Bijou patrons.

Clarissa Rose, the girl with the cello comes direct from the Chicago Conservatory of Music, where she spent two years as leading instructor upon the instrument which she so ably handles.

Mrs Doherty and her 15 snow white poodles, the only troupe of trained poodles in the world, the largest weighing 12 pounds and the smallest two and one half pounds. The extraordinary intelligence displayed by these poodles makes it difficult to believe that they do not possess the power of speech. A very interesting feature of the entertaing specialty is the fact that the lady who presents them conducted their entire training.

Miss Emma Cotrely, lady juggler and premiere equilibrist. She is considered the greatest woman juggler living, and is just deserving of the generous amount of praise she receives.

"GIRL AT THE HELM" IS COMING

H. H. Frazee continues in rapid succession his productions of the latest musical comedy successes among the most alluring is "A Girl at the Helm," which will be seen at La Crosse Theater soon. The story of "A Girl at the Helm" centers around Dorothy Higginson and her love for a college student, Fred Stanhope. The father, Col. Higginson, fearing his daughter may become ensnared in cupid's trap, decides to take her abroad, and the situation of the pursuit of love are amusing.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The market opened extremely weak and nervous and in the first few minutes losses ranged from fractions to more than a point in everything traded in. Transactions were on a very large scale with heavy buying from strong sources doing no more than to hold the prices steady after the first few minutes. A gain at the end of the first fifteen minutes was followed by another recession.

11 a. m.—During the first hour declines in all issues were general ranging from 1 to 3 points. Selling seemed to be based largely on the London slump. Rumors that the Harriman estate was selling Union Pacific depressed that stock and all other railroads. With the absolute denial of these stories the tone again strengthened and prices improved.

Government bonds unchanged; others lower.

The market closed weak.

Kansas City Livestock.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,000; steady. Native steers, $4.25 to $8.50; southern steers, $3.40 to $4.60; southern cows, $2.60 to $3.85; native cows and heifers, $2.20 to $4.40; stockers and feeders, $3 to $5.25; bulls, $2.75 to $3.75; calves, $3.50 to $7.50; western steers, $3.50 to $5.40; western cows, $2.75 to $4.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 6,000; steady to weak; bulk, $7.25 to $7.60; packers, and butchers, $7.40 to $7.60; light, $7.10 to $7.50; pigs, $5.75 to $7.

Sheep—Receipts, 5,000; steady. Muttons, $4 to $4.75; lambs, $5.75 to $7.25; range wethers and yearlings, $4.25 to $5.25; range ewes, $3 to $5.

Chicago Livestock

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Hogs 11,000; fair, slow, steady; light $7.15 to $7.70; mixed $7.30 to $7.85; heavy $7.25 to $7.90; rough $7.25 to $7.45; Yorkers $7.50 to $7.65; good to choice 7.45 to $7.90; pigs $5.25 to $7.15.

Cattle—1,000, steady; beeves $3.85 to $8.75; Texas steers $3.75 to $4.80; western $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders $3 to $5.10; cows and heifers $2 to 5.50; calves $7 to $9.50.

Sheep—2,500, weak; native $2.40 to $4.80; western $2.60 to $4.85; lambs, native $4.25 to $7.20; western $4.50 to $7.15.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The wheat market showed some congestion in December until relieved by sales at 106. Corn opened a shade better for December on the wet weather but trade was small and not very interesting. Oats began steady to firm for May with offerings light. Provisions slow and averaging a little easier.

Close—December wheat eased off 3-4 at the close. Corn and oats closed fractionally lower all around.

PETIT JURY IS DISCHARGED TODAY

Although he has land allotments and is a citizen of the United States, the jury in the case of the United States against John Doherty, in United States court found the defendant was guitly of being a person not fit to associate with his relatives and other full blooded Indians and advised his deportation from the reservation yesterday.

Today a motion for arrest of the judgment and application for a new trial was made to Judge Sanborn at the opening of this morning's session. The court took the matter under advisement.

The case of the United States againts Antoine Saylor and George Rufus, charged with providing Indians with liquor was continued on motion of the defendants.

With the adjournment of today's session the petitt jury was discharged by the court. The grand jury is still in session and will have enough work to keep it here all of next week.

PRIEST ARRESTED FOR OPENING MAIL

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 23. — Rev. Father Edward Kasal, 40, a Russian Catholic priest and head of a Russian settlement that people Hardec, Dunn county, about 12 miles north of Dickinson, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal McKay of Fargo yesterday on the charge of intercepting, opening and detaining United States mail addressed to his parishioners.

The priest says he did it to preserve their souls.

U. S. IGNORES THE ZELAYA BLOCKADE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23. — The steamship Dictator of the Bluefields Steamship company, sailed today for Bluefields, Nicaragua, in spite of the action of Jose Santos Zelaya in closing the Atlantic ports of Nicaragua. The vessel was cleared by the collector of the port here, Henry McCall. He was especially authorized by the department of commerce and labor to take this action.

This is said to be an elucidation of a well known point in international law that a blockade is not a blockade unless it is effective.

FORECLOSURE IS GRANTED

In circuit court this morning a motion for foreclosure was granted by Judge E. C. Higbee in the case of S. Morterud against Thomas Pierce and the Northern Farm Mortgage company. The case was brought here from Vernon county.

PENSION EXAMINERS NAMED

DE LARA CHARGES PLOT TO SLAY HIM

Socialist Says Mining King Green Is Responsible for Scheme to Secure His Judicial Murder in Mexico

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Subsequent to the receipt of the United Press interview with L. Gueterez de Lara, at Los Angeles, the bureau of immigration, received a telegram from Immigration Inspector Ridgway announcing that the prisoner had been released in 3,000 bail.

(By Gison Gardner)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 23.—"I am not an anarchist and never have been. I am a Mexican and a patriot and my only crime is that I have criticised Diazz and have tried to secure justice for the robbed and persecuted laboring class in Mexico."

"But at Cananea, Sonora, I incurred the enmity of the American mining king, Col. W. C. Green, and he is all powerful at Mexico City and at Washington. Mexican jails are overcrowded with prisoners. Even Americans are not safe there. I fled Mexico to save my life and if I am sent back there, I will be murdered, as was Ferrer in Barcelona.

"I feel that a bare outline of my case will awaken the American people to a realization of what is behind my arrests and will result in a universal protest which will prevent my being railroaded to certain death."

From the cell in the local prison where he is being held to await the action of the federal court commissioner, on the charge that he is an anarchist, and has openly declared his contempt for the government of the United States, L. Guieterrez de Lara, international organizer for the socialist party, managed to make plain his position today. He has been held "incommunicado" ever since his arrest, just before President Taft reached this city, and his friends were refused access to him. Attorneys hired by the socialist party are ready to defend him, but they have been told that they will wait until the department of justice at Washington is ready to take up the case and have been refused permission to confer with client.

At the time of de Lara's last arrest he was out on bail to answer to a charge of inciting a riot. He has denounced Mexico and Mexican methods here and in Arizona with a vehemence characteristic of the man and with the result that, during the last couple of years, he has been in considerable difficulty with the federal court in the territories of New Mexico and Arizona. De Lara blames of his troubles on the Mexican government and in his protest today charged that Diaz and his advisors are able to swing the American courts as they wish.

WANT INDIANS TO BECOME CITIZENS

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Demanding that the tribal relation, so far as concerns the North American Indian, be abolished and he be prepared for admission to American citizenship with all that the latter implies; criticism in the expense of insular government and insisting that reforms be put into force and that the inhabitants at once prepare for self government, the Lake Mohonk conference of Friends of the Indian and Other Dependent Peoples, adopted a declaration of principles today in which the present methods of government of the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Alaska and the territories are severely criticized and demands made for reform.

NEW MINISTER TO GRANT VERY LITTLE

MADRID, via Hendaye, Oct. 23.—Senor Moret and his liberal cabinet, just appointed, here began the consideration of modfiying the government and representation in Barcelona and Gerona, that under the Maura administration had become almost unbearable. Just how far Moret will go with his reform cannot be definitely stated, but it is understood that the government's repressive policy will be lightened only so much os is absolutely necessary to pacify the counary.

AN EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturers upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

DID SHE POISON CANDY FOR RIVAL?

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—Whether they have a case of attempted assassination, or whether it is the subtle vengeance of one woman who endeavored to bring public disgrace to another, is the problem that the police here are trying to solve today from the contradictory statements of two women connected with a poison candy plot. One woman, Mrs. Annette Lillard, declares that the other woman, Mrs. Maude Ridley, a widow, gave her a box of candy, after a long discussion in which the women quarreled over Mr. Lillard. The candy, she said, tasted queerly when she bit into a piece and she spat it out. The box was sent to the city chemist and was found to contain poison.

Mrs. Ridley says the story told by Mrs. Lillard is ridiculous. She admits that she is in love with Lillard, but denies that she tried to poison Mrs. Lillard. She declares that if the poison is in the candy it was put there by Mrs. Lillard or by some other person than herself. She says she gave Mrs. Lillard no candy.
